GUTZON BORGLUM TO SPEAK SUNDAY AT LOCAL THEATER

Noted Sculptor Will Tell of His Dreams of Great Memorial at Reception at Fox.

His dream of what the Stone Mountain memorial should be—an even greater monument to the heroes of the lost cause than he first conceived—will be relayed to an Atlanta audience Sunday afternoon at the Fox theater, where Gutzon Borglum, famed sculptor, here to attend "peace negotiations" looking to resumption of work at the mountain, will be tendered a reception. The artist will be introduced from the stage by Mayor-elect James L. Key.

Monday morning Mr. Borglum, in company with Colonel S. H. Venable and J. Lawrence McCord, who has been the chief figure in compromising the difference over Stone Mountain, went out to the mountain, where the distinguished artist made his first survey of the uncompleted project for more than a year.

Returning to Atlanta, Mr. Borglum outlined what form he thinks the new memorial—based largely on his original conception—should take if the peace conferences now under way mature hopefully.

"My idea is that the size of the figures, as I originally planned to carve them, should be doubled, which would make the head of Lee, in the central group, probably from 40 to 45 feet in height. I found Monday that a space of more than 600 feet is available for the central group, which includes five or six of the seated officers of the Confederacy, which would leave from 900 to 1,000 feet on either side of the central group for the supporting armies."

Grand Jury Meets Today.

Meantime, a DeKalb county grand jury will meet in Decatur this morning with the power to recommend to Solicitor-General Claud C. Smith that pending indictments against J. Edgar Smith, however, has declined to say what action he will take in the premises.

Fred Fair Is Captured, But Not the Right One

Fred Fair, surprised by the police, was taken into custody late Monday afternoon without the struggle. He readily admitted his identity and discussed at length circumstances leading to his arrest.

Gunnar Horn Bares Dramatic Story of Cy Hunt for Andree

Explorer Tells How Grim Secret of Andree Fate Was Wrested From Northland.

BY GUNNAR HORN.
Chief of the Norwegian expedition that found the bodies of Salomon August Andree and his companions of the arctic polar expedition of 1897.

ABOARD MOTOR SHIP BRATVAAG, SKJAEVING, NORWAY, Sept. 1.—(By Wireless to the Associated Press.)—The Norwegian expedition to Franz Josef's land (now Fridtjof Nansen land) in the summer of 1930 was made with the motor sealer Bratvaag of Alesund. The skipper was Peder Blausen.

It was planned that the vessel should at the same time hunt whales, seals and ice bears. We sailed from Alesund on July 29 and in marvelous weather we went northward along the coast to Tromsø, where we arrived on the 30th of July in the morning. That evening we continued our voyage and by the next morning we were well out at sea past Soroya Island.

We made our course for Hopen, the first stop on our way. We arrived there August 2. From there we proceeded to King Karl's land (Spitzbergen) and arrived on August 4 at Sable Island, which is the most westerly part of King Karl's land.

Because of reports from a hunting expedition that had been north earlier this year, we knew that ice conditions were unusually favorable, and up to now we had not seen one floating iceberg.

Therefore, we decided that on route to Franz Josef's land we could visit the islands between Spitzbergen and Franz Josef's land, which usually are hard to reach.

Thus we visited Stor Island, White Island and Victor Island.

So we continued, and early on the morning of August 5 we glimpsed a great island's white peak through the fog. We discovered that the map for this region is incorrect, as this island lies about 12 miles further to the west than on the British admiralty map, and that the mapping done by the Worsley-Algarsson expedition in 1925 is quite correct.

We first landed on the southeast side of the island, where the coast is quite bare. After that we were

INJUNCTION HALTS LOCAL ACTIVITIES OF 'BLACK SHIRTS'

J. T. Lee, Member, Charges That Organizers Have Commercialized Name for Own Monetary Gain.

An injunction temporarily restraining R. A. Gordon, R. S. Guldge, H. J. Gwiner and Walter A. Sims from obtaining a charter for the "American Fascist Association and Order of Black Shirts," and from paying out money or doing anything else under the name of the American Fascist, was signed Monday night by Judge E. D. Thomas, of Fulton superior court.

Judge Thomas' order was attached to a petition which was filed this morning in superior court by J. T. Lee, who seeks a receivership for the organization on the ground that Gwiner has usurped powers not delegated to him, and that the defendants Gwiner and Guldge have caused confusion, that is a menace to society, to the safety of the people and to law and good order.

Lee's petition charges that Gwiner and Guldge have changed the principal object of the organization from an unlawful purpose and for principles against public policy and in violation of both federal and state laws. Lee alleges that the use and incorporation of the name of the American Fascist by the defendants is unlawful and without any authority, and that the defendants are trying to commercialize the name for their own monetary advantage.

Hearing on September 12. Judge Thomas ordered the defendants to show cause on September 12 why the prayers of the petitioner should not be granted.

The plaintiff alleges that he and 400 others assembled in the Junior Order United American Mechanics hall on Flat Shoals avenue on June 10 for the purpose of organizing a secret order or organization to combat the communist party and the doctrine of communism and to foster the teachings of communism and to foster white supremacy.

At this meeting, the petition states, Gwiner, Dewey Smith and J. O. Wood were appointed as a committee to perfect plans for a permanent organization, and at the next meeting Wood reported for the committee and said the body had decided not to charge any dues or initiation fees, but to rely on voluntary contributions for necessary operating expenses and funds. This report was adopted, and at a series of meetings an average of 100 members was collected, the petition alleges.

Wood outlined the purposes of the organization at various meetings, but the petition states that because of the incendiary remarks of certain speakers, Wood refused to speak further or to have anything further to do with the organization, the plaintiff alleges. "After the seventh meeting

AR DERBY CROWD SEES MARINE ACE IN FATAL CRASH

Captain Page Dies After Cracking Up Going 200 Miles an Hour; Holman Wins Trophy.

CURTIS-REYNOLDS AIRPORT, CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—(P)—The 1930 national air races wound up tonight with a crash fatal to a famous pilot, a claimed altitude record and the fastest speed ever attained at a meet of its kind.

Captain Arthur H. Page, regarded as the marine corps' premier aviator, killed Monday at Chicago, became well known at Candler field several months ago when he was brought here from Washington to conduct the first tests on the first Prudden-Whitehead, low-wing monoplane produced by the Atlanta Aircraft Corporation.

He stayed at the local airport for several days, but the Atlanta craft through its initial tests and suggested several changes which later were put into effect.

Captain Page is shown at the left in the above photograph with Lieutenant V. M. Guyon. The picture was taken on his arrival in Washington in June after he and Guyon had made a 1,000 mile "blind flight" from Omaha.

Captain Page was one of the best known fliers in the marine corps, being the winner of the Curtiss marine trophy race in Washington recently.

A native of Minnesota, he graduated from the Naval Academy in 1917 and entered the marine corps. Captain Page was 35 years of age. He had been flying since 1918.

The classic of the competitions—the 100-mile Thompson trophy race—brought victory to Charles "Speed" Holman, of Minneapolis.

Holman had only James Haislip, of St. Louis, to contend with in the race after Page's crash, for Captain Frank Hawks, holder of the transcontinental speed record, dropped out with motor trouble in the fifth lap. He started the favorite.

The speed of the winner—201.91 miles an hour—was the greatest ever attained in a national air race event. Haislip averaged 199.80 miles an hour for second place, and Ben O. Howard, of St. Louis, who never expected to have a chance with his tiny little plane of low power, took third place with an average speed of 162.80 miles.

The race was the seventh in which Howard finished in the money. He won five.

Captain Wilfred G. Moore, of Kansas City, went aloft shortly before the Thompson race is being run by the altitude record with a new plane. He came back down an hour and a half later with a broken wing, having covered over 28,000 feet—sufficient for a world's record if his barograph corroborates the altimeter when it is tested.

With him all wrapped up in fur, went Miss Alice Campbell, of Evanston, Ill., making the trip by air.

The present altitude record for a flight of the kind is held by Germany at 24,672 feet by Captain Moore, who won the land sport plane with Warner power. Besides the trophy donated by Charles E. Thompson, Cleveland manufacturer, Holman received $5,000 in prize money, $3,000 of which he gave to the St. Louis hospital.

With the many other winners of the 100-mile race, Holman was lined up in the evening for the presentations. Race officials handed over more than $10,000 in checks, and many trophies changed hands.

COSTE AND AIDE SMASHING SPEED MARK ON FLIGHT

Airmen Shift Course Frequently to Avoid Bad Weather After Leaving Ireland.

FAST PROGRESS IS TOLD BY RADIO

Ships Message Reports All During Day; Pair Are Averaging Over 100 Miles an Hour.

BULLETIN.
PARIS, Sept. 2.—(Tuesday.)—(P)—The air ministry announced this morning that Captain Dieudonne Coste had given the position of his plane. The Question Mark, in the wireless operator aboard the steamer Jacques Cartier at 4 A. M. M. T. (11 p. m. Monday E. S. T.) about 1,225 miles east of New York.

The position given indicated a sharp southward turn to the plane's course which within a few hours placed it far to the south of the usual course off the Newfoundland coast, and set it almost due east of N. W. York. It was presumed the change was to obtain better weather conditions.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 1.—(UN)—Radio reports picked up at sea and at stations all along the Atlantic seaboard placed the French biplane Question Mark more than half way across the Atlantic sea, between New York and St. John's, N. F.

Its radio crackling steadily but erratically, the French plane seemed racing at astonishing speed toward its goal.

Where other westward bound planes fought "terrible" headwinds, or dropped into the sea to be lost, Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, the great French fliers, were computed to be making more than 100 miles an hour.

They left Le Bourget field at Paris, at 4:45 a. m., E. S. T., today. They passed the Irish coast at 10 a. m. At 6 p. m., E. S. T., their position was not believed to be further than 1,000 miles from New York.

With but 975 miles of the Atlantic between them and Newfoundland, from Newfoundland they would have another 40 hours to reach New York airport, New York, their destination.

Crossed South Atlantic. When the red Breguet biplane left Le Bourget, it was carrying a south Atlantic crossing and holder of the world distance record, predicted in January, that he would make New York in 40 hours.

Coste's prediction seemed well within the mark of possibility provided all continued to go well.

It was not believed that the plane could meet with such ideal conditions all the way, though even a material slowing of speed would leave a chance for the plane to reach New York late Tuesday.

With every mile it made, the Question Mark was approaching one of the worst flying conditions in the world—the Newfoundland coast and the Newfoundland fog area, where it is seldom clear enough to see for any distance. Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith, the famous Australian pilot, was stopped by it on his recent westward flight. He reached the Newfoundland area without difficulty, only to circle the island and find that there was no fuel almost gone.

Such rapid progress was reported from the Question Mark during the evening that it was generally possible the plane was racing over a graveyard of airplanes such as the Atlantic. Ships all over the Atlantic, and radio stations all along the Atlantic

CAR CRASH KILLS GEO. BAKER HERE

Brother of Insurance Man Dies in Accident on Morningside.

George Baker, of Charleston, S. C., brother of Carey F. Baker, prominent local insurance man residing at 2500 Peachtree road, was killed shortly after 11 o'clock Monday night when the car in which he was riding with his brother was wrecked at the junction of Morningside drive, Sherwood and Cumberland roads.

He was thrown through the windshield when the car struck what the police report termed a "triangular curve." Rushed to Grady hospital in an ambulance he was pronounced dead on arrival, and physicians who examined the body stated that he was literally cut to ribbons.

The machine was driven by Carey Baker, who was severely but not critically injured. At St. Joseph's hospital where he was taken for treatment, he told physicians that he struck a bank at the junction of the three roads, where crowded into "such another machine. The police were unable to locate any other machine nor witnesses who had seen it.

George Baker was 35 years of age and was prominent in the timber business in Charleston. He was visiting his brother here for a few days.

Sale of 'Black Shirt' Prohibited in Athens

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 1.—(P)—Mayor A. G. Dudley, of Athens, Monday issued an order prohibiting the sale on the streets of Athens of "Black Shirt" publications.

In a statement accompanying his order Mayor Dudley said the order was issued to prohibit the sale of "Black Shirt" publications, which are "such an anti-social, anti-racial organization, apparently set up for the personal profit of its organizers, will not be tolerated in the community."

In addition to his official capacity as mayor, Mr. Dudley spoke from the standpoint of a large employer of labor. He is the head of two large mills in Athens, and has other interests.

Hurricane Warning Issued for Haiti

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(P)—The following hurricane warning was issued tonight by the weather bureau:

"Advisory tropical disturbance of hurricane intensity central 1 p. m. About latitude 16, longitude 64 west, moving rather rapidly west-northwestward over Caribbean sea. Its center will pass south of Haiti Tuesday and it will likely continue moving about same direction next two days. Caution advised small vessels near path of storm in Caribbean."

SIX BALLOONS OFF ON RACE FOR CUP

Four Nations Represented in Clash for Bennett Trophy.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 1.—(P)—Six balloons, representing four nations, floated away from Cleveland airport into a leaden sky late today to compete for the Gordon Bennett cup in the 18th renewal of the international classic.

Carried by gentle air currents, five of the huge bags, the French, German and Belgian entries, the Goodyear VIII and the City of Cleveland to which were reported drifting in an easterly direction over Ohio.

The City of Detroit, the sixth entry and the first balloon to weigh off, struck an air current from the start and thereby lost its way toward Lake Erie in the direction of Toronto.

A crowd estimated from 50,000 to 100,000, some in the grandstand and others lining the spacious airport for miles around, watched the 80,000-cubic-foot bags drift into the sky.

The City of Detroit, the sixth entry and the first balloon to weigh off, struck an air current from the start and thereby lost its way toward Lake Erie in the direction of Toronto.

The remaining balloons were carried by the heavy laden basket borne by the Belgian balloon was Ernest DeMuyter, consecutive yearly winner of the trophy from 1924 and his aide, L. DeMuyter.

The German entry, was piloted by Dr. Hugo Kaulen, Jr., of Elberfeld, and Carl Goette, Jr., of Dusseldorf, was flying with him as aide.

The crew of the French balloon comprised Albert Bolland, of Paris, a war pilot, and Jean Herbe, also of Paris, his aide.

Roland J. Blair, winner of the 1930 national elimination race, piloted the City of Cleveland, entered by the local Chamber of Commerce. His companion was F. A. Trotter.

Toting Rum to Jail Is Charged to Youth

T. E. Battle, 21, of 27 Fulton street, will be a candidate for the title of Atlanta's most audacious bootlegger, if, at a hearing in police court this afternoon, he is found guilty of charges docketed against him at police headquarters Monday by Turnkey H. P. Sibbey, who charges the youth with smuggling denatured alcohol to prisoners.

$800 IS DONATED FOR CENSUS FIGHT

Borough Council Sets Up Fund To Further Enumeration Battle.

Council and the aldermanic board of the borough of Atlanta Monday afternoon approved allocation of $800 to assist the city of Atlanta in its fight to force enumeration of the population of the entire census of the Atlanta area.

If the "greater" census area is carried, the total printed in the official census releases will be 359,669, as against 270,035 if it is limited to the borough only.

The paper authorizing the borough's contribution to a contemplated court battle over the matter will go to Mayor Ragsdale this morning for his approval with the assurance that he will sign it immediately, thus making the sum available at once.

He was followed by Mr. Mayson, who declared that even if he were sent to Washington, one of the first things he would do would be to re-examine the allocation of the money to assist him in the fight, and that if the money were not appropriated from the borough or municipalities, he would do it at his own expense.

Mayor Ragsdale then asked for the floor explaining the necessity for immediate action and emphasizing the importance of following the recommendation of the Atlanta council.

He was followed by Mr. Mayson, who declared that even if he were sent to Washington, one of the first things he would do would be to re-examine the allocation of the money to assist him in the fight, and that if the money were not appropriated from the borough or municipalities, he would do it at his own expense.

At this juncture Alderman Claude Ashley, acting chairman of the finance committee, requested that the paper be referred to the finance committee. This was done, with the result that the committee reversed its former recommendation and recommended the fund.

Appeals for Fund. "I want to appeal to this body to set up this fund for the fight," Mr. Ragsdale said. "It seems to me to be a small sum considering the importance of the matter which it will aid. We can do nothing less than take whatever steps are necessary to set up this sum and to carry the fight to the bitter end."

Mr. Ragsdale opened his fire on the adverse recommendation of the finance committee before Alderman Ashley had ever reported the action the committee took, and when the mayor referred to the committee's action, Mr. Ashley immediately took the floor.

"I do not think it right that the report of the committee should be attacked before it is brought officially to the attention of council," he said. "I want to assure members of the committee that I have not betrayed their trust and let his paper out before reporting it. I did lend it to a member of this body, but I now see it is in the hands of the mayor."

Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth ward and a member of the finance committee, jumped to his feet.

Legs Diamond Held By German Police

AIX-CHAPPELLE, Germany, Sept. 1.—(P)—Detectives of the German secret service tonight arrested Jack (Legs) Diamond, American gangster, as he arrived at the frontier on a train from Antwerp after being expelled by Belgian authorities.

Police said that extradition of Diamond to the United States for murder had been requested. The gangster was expelled from Belgium after he had been detained early in the day on the ground that he was an undesirable alien.

Mexicans Periled By Raging Volcano

PICHUICALCO, Chiapas, Mexico, Sept. 1.—(P)—Reports from the village of Ostuncun said tonight that Chichonal volcano began to send forth columns of smoke and steam, causing the villagers to flee in terror. The volcano hitherto had been inactive as far back as the inhabitants could remember.

Three Members Elected To Fill Places in Council

Seawright, McLaurin and Owen Are Named to Vacated Seats.

Three new members of the Atlanta borough council were elected Monday afternoon to fill vacated posts in that body.

James R. Seawright, named to fill the post of former Alderman Oscar H. Williamson, of the ninth ward, was the only one to have opposition. He defeated his opponent, Homer C. Foster, by a vote of 20 to 11.

Seawright was nominated by Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, while Councilman Raleigh E. Drennon, the other ninth ward representative in the session, nominated Councilman-elect Foster. Carpenter pointed out that Seawright was a former member of council and that he had served previously as chairman of the finance committee and held many other important assignments. Drennon stated that Foster was the choice of the people of the ninth ward for a councilmanic seat, and that he was nominating him for that reason. He declared there was no friction between Carpenter and himself.

Thomas C. McLaurin was selected to succeed former Councilman William Rountree, of the third, and John M. Owen, already the democratic nominee from the sixth ward, was named to fill the term of former Councilman Jack C. Hardy until the general election.

On motion of Alderman Ben T. Huitt, of the third, M. E. Bradford, western manager of the city, was named to succeed Mr. McLaurin. Mayor J. N. Ragsdale praised Councilman Luke Arnold, of the sixth, for his action in nominating Owen, who defeated Arnold for the democratic nomination as councilman from the sixth in the June primary.

Labor Head Deplores Unemployment Periods

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(P)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared in an address here today that "those who manage and own industry, those who control and administer the affairs of government and those who work and are represented by men of their own choosing will be well high guilty of moral and criminal negligence if they permit society to be intermittently exposed to the denigrating and destroying effects of cyclical periods of unemployment."

Speaking at the State fair, the labor leader urged establishment of a secured annual wage earners' income as a guard against poverty and suffering during such periods. Declaring that the celebration of Labor Day without attention to "the overshadowing problem of unemployment" was impossible, Mr. Green said industry was partially idle because the consuming market cannot absorb mass production. He said no serious effort had been made to deal with the problem of technological unemployment or to extend assistance to the victim of mechanical displacement and that only by meeting this problem could the nation hope to maintain every human being as a consuming unit.

The whole question must be considered as a grave social and economic problem which affects the stability of the government and the maintenance of peace and order," he said. "The security and permanency of our republic depends very largely upon our ability to abolish unemployment, to reduce poverty to a minimum and to establish an economic balance between the forces of production and consumption."

Mr. Green voiced "disapproval of what he termed the 'policy of discrimination' against the middle aged worker, saying 'if the limit of human service is to be fixed at 40 or 45 years of age, then society must be prepared to face the problem which such a standard is bound to create.' Concluding with comment on the shorter working week, he said, "the question of leisure through the adoption of the five-day week and a progressive reduction in the hours of labor is of supreme importance to the working people of the United States. They have found that in theory and practice the enjoyment of increasing leisure makes for efficiency, increased productivity and a corresponding reduction in the costs of manufactured products."

General Allen's Death Grieves German Press

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(P)—The newspapers of this capital today reported the death of Major General Henry T. Allen, U. S. A., retired, with words of the highest esteem, stressing his tact, fairness and humane administration.

The "Vossische Zeitung" said: "The German republic should remember this former enemy died a friend of Germany, doing everything possible to have the occupation of German territories carried out chivalrously."

The "Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" under a picture of the general, who died in Pennsylvania on Saturday, prints the caption, "To him who until the last minute of occupation fought for justice and whose timely intervention prevented destruction of the fortress of Ehrenbreitstein, citizens of Coblenz should erect a memorial inscribed 'An American, General Allen, prevented the senseless destruction of this historic landmark.'"

The "Tagblatt" said: "General Allen's organization of American relief for German children and the tact of humanity with which he carried out his difficult duties at Coblenz are ample proof of his far-sightedness and sense of justice."

Leaf Markets Open In Carolina Today

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 1.—(P)—Sixty-four auction warehouses in 18 towns and cities were piled high with tobacco tonight awaiting the opening of the eastern North Carolina bright belt markets tomorrow.

Prices paid in the Georgia and South Carolina belts in recent weeks, averaging sharply under the 1929 level, have caused growers of this district to manifest some anxiety, although they hope the rising tendency reported recently from the southern areas will be reflected in opening prices.

The 1929 crop totaled 186,000,000 pounds and sold for an average of 19 cents, making the crop value in excess of $35,000,000. This year's production has been estimated at several million pounds more than last year's.

Representative John H. Kerr, of the second district, has joined with Georgia congressmen in asking the department of justice to investigate the possibility of a price fixing agreement among the buyers to depress the price of the weed.

PERRY FAVORS LIMIT TO COUNTY TAX POWER

Candidate for Governor Declares There Are Too Many Taxing Agencies.

James A. Perry, candidate for governor, Monday in a letter to The Constitution declared that he had "in no uncertain language" advocated fixing a limit upon the taxing power of the various counties in the state of Georgia.

Mr. Perry asserted that there are too many taxing agencies and that "I have long appreciated the danger of allowing counties and cities to levy taxes for whatever might seem at the moment to be advisable."

Mr. Perry's letter follows: "Editor Constitution: In an editorial in your issue of this morning you say that, so far as you know, no candidate for the governorship has advocated fixing a limit upon the taxing power of the counties."

"May I call to your attention the fact that in more than a hundred speeches delivered in as many counties, and in many newspaper articles, I have advocated that very thing in no uncertain language? I have long appreciated the danger of allowing counties and cities to levy taxes for whatever might seem at the moment to be advisable. There are entirely too many taxing agencies. The federal government taxes us for this and that. The state comes along with another set of tax laws. Then the counties follow and the cities complete the cycle. Too often one or more of these taxing agencies fail to take into account what the others have already done. The result is a tax burden that is constantly growing heavier."

"I have promised throughout this campaign to advocate just what you recommend in your editorial. I have also pledged myself to prevent any increase in state tax for any purpose."

"County tax limitation is, of course, unpopular with a certain element of county officials. But the great majority of county officials are awake to the seriousness of the situation and have the welfare of their communities sufficiently at heart to offer no objection to even a severe limitation."

"May I also call your attention to the fact that my campaign has been one of extreme frankness? I have advocated the things my experience has shown to be advisable, and have paid absolutely no attention to the political result. My election or defeat will be just an incident if I can rouse the people to such an extent that they will put a stop to this 'governing by the rule of politics; dancing the bait on a long pole and slipping the idea from behind.' Mercenary politicians and selfish politics must no longer control the business of the state of Georgia."

Soviet Government Builds First Blimp

MOSCOW, Sept. 1.—(P)—The soviet government launched a dirigible built of it today, the first ever built in Russia. Its completion was timed with preparations for receiving the Graf Zeppelin here shortly. The blimp, which really is a blimp with a capacity of 2,500 cubic meters, cruised over Moscow to the astonishment of many thousand people who never before had seen a similar craft. It flew over the Kremlin and headquarters of various government management committees.

The new dirigible will be used exclusively as a training ship.

"And John, We've Got To Have Some New--"

Just another of the joys of moving! The little things that aren't on the "among the missing" list have been broken or scratched. And then John and Mary embark on a series of arguments about who had what last. If only the just-moved Johns and Marys would come to Davison's where the newly-moved are considered as important as newly-weds!

A young business executive suggested the following list of "necessities" after moving: (Learned by his own experience!)

Kitchen Tables

In green, cream or enamel with stainless porcelain tops. In two sizes—regular $8.94—apartment size$5.94

Shower Curtains

We label them, "What every male-mover misses most." We have them in gay chintz colors, and the price is only...$3.49

Mops and Pails

Before and even after a general clean-up, mops and pails should be close at hand. Set, 83c; mop, 24c; pail, 59c.

Cretonne

Get it by bolts and bolts so that attic and kitchen windows will all look attractive. Bright patterns.....59c a yard

Window Shades

A very important item in any just-cleaned-up home or apartment. Every move means new ones in almost every room.

Cotton Bath Mats

These are made in Georgia—and they're tufted in vivid colors. Get yours in your favorite color today.....$4.95

A woman who has lived in hotels all her life suddenly moved into an apartment. The following were among the things she needed.

Inlaid Linoleum

$1.49 a yard. And there are convenient little 6x9 felt-base linoleum rugs for kitchens. $5.95. Everybody needs 'em.

Oil Cloth

Both for the table covers and the shelving you're sure to need. In checks or plain for 10c yard. Flowered.....15c

Refuse Cans

Important for the debris that pops up at moving time—and for later. Heavy galvanized iron, holds 21 gallons, $1.98

Brooms

—because any new place should be kept "swept clean!" These brooms are of an unusually sturdy quality for 49c.

Lacquers

—to cheer up a room or a chair or to doctor up a scratched place. In all colors, $2 a quart. (Also pint sizes.)

Scatter Rugs

The Numdahs are the most popular of these. Beautifully soft and matted wool. Brightly patterned. 4x6. $12.50.

Criss-Cross Curtains

Of a lovely quality, dotted marquisette in cream or ecru, 98c. Almost every room in your new home needs them.

Floor Waxers

Extremely easy to use. They're made with the new detachable handles. $4.44. Make hubby's work as easy as possible.

Airidors

—to dress up the unchristened fireplace. Brass in colonial designs. $22. Fire screens in brass to match.....$17.94

Towel Racks

Popular at any time but noticeably so at moving-time. Nickel. $1.44. What is a new bathroom without shiny, new fixtures?

Bulbs

Harris and Slaton Strive To Reach Voters of State

Incumbent Going About State Lining Up Forces, While Opponent Launches Speaking Campaign.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Entering their last full week of campaigning, Senator William J. Harris and former Governor John M. Slaton were prepared to do all in their power to reach the Georgia voter, but through different methods. Slaton, continuing a policy established several weeks ago, was scheduled for one or two speeches every day in the week, while Harris was to speak only on Wednesday night. The senator is going about the state, however, meeting with friends and associates quietly, but nevertheless lining up his political forces.

A statement from the Harris headquarters Monday predicted that the people were and would be behind Harris on September 10, election day, and that his re-election "will mean the most emphatic repudiation of the corrupt campaign now maintained by Slaton, that the people of Georgia have ever witnessed in our history." The former governor's campaign also was termed a "campaign of hate and revenge," a type which the Harris men say has never succeeded.

Fletcher's Indorsement. In his Monday evening address, Slaton discussed an indorsement of Senator Harris by Senator Fletcher, of Florida.

"Some weeks ago it was the other Florida senator, Mr. Trammell, who read into the Congressional Record a fulsome eulogy of Senator Harris, ostensibly written by Senator Trammell but in reality written by Senator Harris," Slaton said. "Both the Florida senators have abundant reason to be grateful to Senator Harris. The huge appropriations he helped to prepare in the senate appropriations committee furnished them an excuse to vote for the Grundy tariff bill, the heaviest ever imposed on the country. Senator Harris gave them nine billion dollars to exterminate the Mediterranean fruit fly, which some authorities say never existed, and generous appropriations for Florida rivers and harbors."

Candidates Speak. Encouraged by Labor Day gatherings, Georgia's gubernatorial candidates Monday engaged in extensive speech-making.

All five candidates, George H. Carswell, John N. Holder, James A. Perry, E. D. Rivers and Richard B. Russell, Jr., spoke, with Perry confining his remarks more closely to labor, and kindred subjects appropriate for the holiday.

Speaking before the Macon Federation of Trades, Perry said he favored a movement to include the employ of a business as a stockholder. "I want to see every man who works for any public business a stockholder to some degree in the business."

Holder, at Lyons, stressed the need of a "real" budget commission, with powers to function and regulate, as a means of keeping down expenditures. Russell, at Thomson, declared that Governor Hardman had allowed himself "to be dragged into a political campaign" by issuing "a garbled misstatement of facts in a delicate eleventh hour attempt to mislead the people."

He then discussed a recent statement of Dr. Hardman, pointing out portions which he said were misstated. Russell reserved his principal speech for Monday night at Augusta.

Rivers spoke at Tallapoosa, Manchester and Columbus, the latter speech closing the activities. In each instance he discussed his platform, particularly as regards distribution of school books, and equalization money to schools. Rivers also deplored what he termed the "personalities" of the campaign, while real issues were cast aside.

Carswell invaded South Georgia, speaking at Adel and Sylvester, where he declared that payment of debts was the question paramount to all others. His plan for diverting automobile license tax money for one year to meet state debts was the only practical one advocated, he said, while his headquarters issued a statement declaring that unless the Carswell plan is accepted, "the wildest kind of taxation schemes" will show up in the next legislature.

M. Slaton's headquarters to go out and "shell the woods" in an effort to gather votes for Slaton in his senatorial race with Senator William J. Harris, so discouraging have been the reports coming in, a statement issued by the Harris headquarters Monday declared.

The statement declared that Slaton's "criticizing, nagging and misrepresenting Senator Harris" has been such an "undignified spectacle" that the average Georgian is disgusted wherever Slaton speaks. The statement also upholds Harris' record in the senate.

"Still Governor Slaton keeps up his undignified spectacle, criticizing, nagging and misrepresenting Senator Harris, maintaining his low campaign methods of abuse and misrepresentation, so unworthy any man seeking the high office of United States senator," the statement said. "Unable to get anywhere by such conduct, Slaton headquarters have started their horde of Atlanta lawyers speaking all over the state, telling the voters of Georgia what to do. Their belittling efforts have disgusted the average Georgian wherever they speak, and there is in every section deep resentment against such disgusting tactics in this campaign."

Thomas W. Hardwick, of Albany, has been at Slaton headquarters directing their campaign, but so discouraging is the news from the field, Hardwick has taken the stump and, with his corps of Atlanta lawyers, is "shelling the woods" with their abuse and denunciation of Senator Harris.

"Senator Harris stands flat-footed on a record of real tangible service to the people, Slaton is depending on his political slush fund to carry him through with the aid of paid speakers and campaign workers over the state. Slaton voted against the disfranchisement of the ignorant, vicious class of negroes while he was a member of the Georgia legislature. Senator Harris has always been for white supremacy, and stands on his record of protection of the whites everywhere and at all times."

"The late slogan in this campaign, 'Slaton, slush and slander,' is becoming widespread and catching. Everywhere the average voter in Georgia is disgusted at Slaton's tactics, at his abuse and misrepresentation of Senator Harris, and Slaton's wholesale attempt to purchase and delude the white people in this election."

Facing of Problem Urged by Carswell

Unless the people of Georgia face the problem of paying the teachers, Confederate veterans, the state insane asylum at Milledgeville and the tuberculosis hospital at Alto with the tag tax money for next year they may expect the wildest kind of taxation schemes at the meeting of the next session of the Georgia legislature, according to a statement given out by the Carswell headquarters Monday.

A reply also is made to the speech of John N. Holder at Statesboro last week in which he said that "George Carswell is going about the state shedding crocodile tears over the plight of the school teachers, Confederate veterans, the insane at Milledgeville and the tuberculosis patients at Alto, and has not himself felt the pinch of unpaid and delayed salary."

"We may be charged with repetition, but we have made a solemn promise to keep before the people of Georgia the one issue in this campaign, and we expect to keep that pledge," the statement said.

"Just in proportion as the people grasp and understand the remedy for the state's financial plight offered by Mr. Carswell, do they approve it and rally to the Carswell standard. Until the gas tax was levied, the word 'allocate' had never appeared with reference to any tax. The state levied all taxes, ad valorem and special, and license and appropriated them where they were most needed. But we propose to touch the gas tax and the tag tax only for one year, leaving approximately $14,000,000 for roads."

"Mr. Holder, Mr. Russell, Mr. Rivers, et al, constantly speak of "raising" the road fund. You think from the utterances of these gentlemen that all automobile owners are either old bachelors or old maids and that they haven't the 'milk of human kindness' in them; that they neither have children to educate nor sympathy for the unfortunate wards of the state. This tag money, as money, and all other money is paid into the treasury by the people of Georgia and belongs to the people of Georgia."

"In his speech at Statesboro August 30, John N. Holder said, 'Mr. Carswell is going about the state shedding crocodile tears over the plight of school teachers and pensioners. These gentlemen (Carswell and another) both hold lucrative offices in the state capitol, and both receive large salaries.' He further said, 'Neither of these candidates has felt the pinch of unpaid and delayed salaries.' Mr. Holder remained as chairman of the highway board to June 4, 1929. At that time school teachers, pensioners and others were unpaid and Mr. Holder never felt the 'pinch of delayed salary' that he was drawing at the rate of $6,000 per year and traveling expenses did he shed any kind of tears over the plight of these unfortunate. On the other hand, he admitted in a public hearing that he was not only not delayed in drawing these salaries but that at one time he borrowed a rather considerable sum in advance, of highway funds, and gave his note for it."

John Holder Hits Opponents' 'Ambition'

John N. Holder gave out a statement from his Atlanta headquarters Monday night in which he charged that the personal ambition of two men, rather than the financial needs of our schools and veterans, were behind the scheme to "raid the treasury of the highway department and get money for current state debts."

"Governor Hardman has issued a recent statement in which he seeks to place the responsibility for our current state debts," the statement said. "He seeks to fasten some responsibility on me, by obstructive tactics. It is so ridiculous to charge me with responsibility since I was not in the house or the senate and have no veto power, that this part of his statement is dismissed. One thing in the governor's statement is significant. He says, in reference to paying the state's debts, that every suggestion, save one, made by the candidates for governor to relieve this unfortunate situation—seems impracticable and impossible. Everyone assumes, of course, that the Carswell tag plan is the one approved by the governor. This identifies the governor as an active participant in this campaign. It identifies him with George Carswell in the scheme to raid the highway treasury for funds to pay off the debt."

"This distressing need of school teachers, veterans, and the insane could have been set in motion for relieving it, through increasing the governor's borrowing power, before Christmas. But this would have interfered with two ambitions. It would have defeated the ambition of the governor to leave office free from the stigma of a state indebtedness incurred during his administration. It would have obstructed the path of Mr. Carswell in his ambition to be governor. It thus seen that this scheme to invade the highway treasury is a scheme that has more behind it than a sincere desire to pay the teachers and veterans the money due them. There are personal ambitions to be served."

"There have been statements in the press, presumably authoritative, that the governor will consider the coming primary election as a referendum on the question of using the automobile tag tax revenue for paying the state's debts of a general character, and that he will be governed by the expression of the voters at the ballot box in determining whether or not he will call an extra session of the legislature after the primary and present the Carswell plan for paying the state's debts by disrupting the parking program. I feel it my duty to make this matter clear to every man and woman in the state who pays for an automobile tag with the understanding that the money will be spent for paving of roads. A vote for George Carswell will be a vote for the diversion of the highway funds; a vote for the obstructing the very popular and promising road program now under way, a vote that will dishearten those who have contended that the pay-as-you-go policy in building highways and a vote that will encourage the discontented remnant of the bond advocates who still look for an opening wedge by which they can revive the fight for a bond issue."

Figures Misquoted, Talmadge Charges

Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture and a candidate to succeed himself, Monday issued a statement in which he charged that his opponent, J. J. Brown, former commissioner, had made only one charge against him, the cost of running the department, and that Brown, "in his eagerness to obtain office" had misquoted the figures in the auditor's reports."

"I went into office as commissioner of agriculture June 27, 1927. This was about one year after the heated campaign Mr. Brown and I had in 1926," the statement said.

"You will recall that the main issue of the campaign of 1926 was the abolishing of the great army of oil inspectors that Mr. Brown had who did nothing but play politics every two years."

"I am glad to say that the legislature of 1927 did cut this army of oil inspectors from 190 to 6 and placed the oil inspection in the department of the comptroller-general of the state. The law fixes it so that the commissioner of agriculture has to be elected every two years. Should he have to make an active campaign every two years there would not be much time left for him to do any real, constructive work."

"The only charges that my opponent has brought against me is the cost of running the department. I wish to state emphatically that my opponent has misstated the figures in the auditor's reports. Of course, my opponent knew that the great mass of the voters of Georgia could not get to see the auditor's reports. The annual expense of the department of agriculture since I have been commissioner has been less than it was under Mr. Brown by over $80,000. I am sorry that anyone who has been commissioned to run the department of agriculture for 10 years saw fit, in his eagerness to obtain office, to misquote figures."

Talmadge included in his statement a letter written by W. L. McElmurray, of Waynesboro, state senator from the 17th district, in which the senator asserted that "Mr. Talmadge has labored faithfully for the farmers of Georgia, especially giving his time to the small farmers who have no representative."

"A manufacturer of fertilizers once told me that his only objection to Talmadge was that he paid too much attention to the small farmer. I told Mr. Talmadge of this and he said, 'If I don't look after these people who will?'"

Brown Hits Talmadge For Fertilizer Stand

Calling upon Eugene Talmadge "to tell the farmers of Georgia why he sponsored and supported a law which was enacted by the legislature making it 80 per cent easier for fertilizer makers to make fertilizer under the analysis required by law and get by without a penalty," J. J. Brown, former commissioner of agriculture, Monday charged that during his term of office the 1926 fertilizer bulletin showed he (Brown) had refunded to farmers on penalties $8,600 more than Talmadge's bulletin for 1929 shows he refunded.

"Under the law applicable when I was commissioner, the statement 'if a fertilizer fell as much as 3 per cent below the required analysis the penalty was applied. Under the present law enacted while Mr. Talmadge has been commissioner the shortage in analysis must be as much as 5 per cent before penalty applies. Mr. Talmadge and his friends worked like heroes to get this law passed so it was before the legislature."

"Mr. Talmadge vehemently proclaimed his friendship for the farmers because he applied penalties and obtained refunds about election time in 1928, and he thought he tied the farmers to his administration by this so they would 'stand hitched' while he worked the other end and played the fertilizer makers into his political camp. Such political scheming will not work and the people are on to it."

B. M. Bullard Lauded In Tumlin Statement

John W. Tumlin, chairman of the campaign committee of B. M. Bullard, candidate for comptroller general, Monday in a statement asserted that "the race for comptroller general is between Bullard and Harrison. The other two candidates are no doubt nice men and will get some votes over the state, but neither have gathered enough strength to carry more than a few counties, and as the nomination is determined by the county unit vote I wish to admonish the farmers and taxpayers that this is no time to cast complimentary votes."

"I have known Mr. Bullard for many years. He is suited by temperament and business experience for comptroller general and knows from experience the tax problems of the people."

Budget Commission Is Urged by Holder

LYONS, Ga., Sept. 1.—(Special.) John N. Holder, candidate for governor, here today declared that "Not only must the state government be reorganized so as to eliminate unnecessary departments and jobs, to the end that a more efficient, economical and simplified government may be provided, but as a means of bringing this about, there must be a real budget commission that will function instead of the two present commissions which are useless because they are so often in conflict and because they are without proper power."

"I shall urge the general assembly to create a budget commission composed of the state tax commissioner, the comptroller-general, the state auditor, the president of the senate, the chairman of the senate finance committee, the chairman of the senate appropriations committee, the speaker of the house, the chairman of the house ways and means committee, the chairman of the house appropriations committee and the governor, the latter to be ex-officio chairman."

"This commission should have the power to gather information as to the future expenses of the state, the anticipated income of the state, the needs of each department and institution, and to present this information to the house and senate committees which draft the revenue and appropriation bills. It should have the authority to keep a close check on the expenditures of the departments and institutions so that none may be allowed to spend more money than is appropriated to it. The legislature should be forbidden to appropriate more money than the income which the commission advises may be safely anticipated."

Rivers Delivers His 100th Speech

COLUMBUS, Ga., Sept. 1.—(Special.)—Ed Rivers delivered his third speech of the day at Columbus tonight in his race for the governorship. Rivers stated that his Columbus engagement was the 100th speaking date he has filled during the present campaign and reiterated his determination to avoid personalities but "to spread the doctrine of my progressive and constructive platform."

Divers May Recover Fortune in Pacific

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Feasibility of sending a diver to recover $50,000 in cash lost when the burning bulk of the gambling ship Monfalcone sank off Santa Monica Saturday night was being investigated today.

Tommy Jacobs, owner of the vessel, said he was negotiating with a diver who would attempt to recover the money if the depth of the ocean was not too great.

The Monfalcone sank after the outbreak of a fire which sent 350 persons aboard scurrying to water taxis. Two members of the crew were slightly burned. The vessel had been anchored for some time outside the limit of state or federal jurisdiction.

COMMISSION TO FIGHT RATE INJUNCTION SUIT

Plans for Employing Special Counsel To Be Discussed Today.

Employment of special counsel to fight the injunction suit filed by the Georgia Power Company to block the Georgia public service commission order directing the company to show cause why its rates in the state should not be reduced to the level of those in Cordale will be taken up today in an executive session of the public service commission, James A. Perry, chairman, said Monday.

The commission will meet at 10 o'clock this morning to hear cases, and following the routine session it will meet in executive session to consider plans for fighting the injunction suit, Mr. Perry said.

A temporary restraining order was issued by Judge E. D. Thomas Saturday on petition of the power company. The order prohibits the commission from proceeding with the rate hearing which had been planned for today. It is returnable Saturday.

The power company recently reduced its rates at Cordale after a county-owned power plant there began operation. It then was ordered by the commission to show cause why its rates should not be reduced all over the state.

Mr. Perry said that the commission will fight the injunction suit vigorously, and that employment of special counsel will be necessary as "it is a major case."

COUNSEL RETAINED BY RATE ASSOCIATION.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Counsel has been retained by the Georgia Municipal Utilities Rate Association to represent the association in fighting the making permanent of an injunction obtained by the Georgia Power Company against the public service commission in regard to a hearing on lower power rates called by the commission. Chairman William M. Lester of the association announced Monday.

Auditors To Survey Borough Bookkeeping

On the heels of adoption of an adverse report of a special council committee on a proposal to establish a system of centralized bookkeeping system for Atlanta, borough council Monday afternoon invited auditors and firms handling bookkeeping systems to make a survey of present methods for the purpose of determining what advantages, if any, the new system might offer.

Alderman Claude Ashler, of the fourth ward, brought in the adverse report as chairman of the special council committee considering the proposal of Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth, that the centralized system be adopted for Atlanta.

Following adoption of the adverse report, Millican offered his resolution, adopted unanimously, authorizing an auditing firm to survey the borough government and to file a report of its findings.

Residence Measure Opposed by Boroughs

Other political subdivisions of the city of Atlanta Monday afternoon registered strenuous objection to strict application of an ordinance of the borough of Atlanta requiring employees to live inside the corporate limits of the borough.

Scott Candler, mayor of the borough of Decatur, and mayor pro tem of the city of Atlanta; E. D. Barrett, mayor of the borough of College Park; J. A. Ragdale, mayor of the borough of East Point; the Rev. W. M. Sennell, representing the College Park Thirty Club, and Professor J. T. McGee, of the Russell High school, were among the delegation speaking before council asking that terms of the ordinance not be made applicable, especially in the case of school employees.

No action was taken on the matter pending a report of a special council committee, headed by Councilman George B. Lyle. It is expected that the committee will be ready to file its report at the September 15 session of council.

Whitehall Viaduct Paving Turned Down

Members of the aldermanic board Monday afternoon concurred in all actions of the borough council with the exception of one paper providing for allocation of $6,831 for repaving and repairing the street car track areas on the Whitehall street viaduct. This paper was among the aldermanic board measures, and should have gone to the finance committee for a recommendation before coming to the board. It was not passed by council and could not have been acted upon by the board. The other papers will go to Mayor I. N. Ragdale for his approval.

179 Stolen Machines Recovered in August

The Atlanta police department during August recovered 179 stolen automobiles valued at $44,440, while only 182 machines were reported stolen, Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole said Monday.

It was the second month during the year that the department has failed to recover more autos than were reported missing. In 1929 the local bureau hung up an average of 97.5 per cent for the recovery of stolen cars, claiming the national record for any city.

Of the 179 machines returned to their owners in August, Detectives George Barrett and Leonard Satterfield, of the auto theft squad, were responsible for 87. Chief Poole said, while Detectives Sam Smith and J. A. McKibben, of the same detail, were credited with 15 cars. The remaining 77 were found by other detectives and uniform officers.

Mystery Bullet Kills P. O. Clerk

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(AP)—James Desio was shot and killed today in the city hall branch of the post-office, in the federal building, where he was employed as a clerk.

Preliminary investigation indicated that the shooting was accidental, the gun being discharged by some one else than Desio with no witnesses present. The death was listed by police as "suspicious" pending full investigation by federal officers.

Desio was 34 years old.

TWO HOLDUP VICTIMS IDENTIFY YOUNG PAIR

Suspects Are Picked Out by Filling Station Operators.

Two youthful bandit suspects arrested early Sunday morning by a residential patrolman, have been identified in four recent Atlanta holdups, it was announced Monday by Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole.

The alleged stickup men, J. M. "Jack" Spratlin and F. R. Smith, were picked out of a line-up at headquarters Monday by R. E. Harris, filling station operator at 810 Marietta street, who was robbed of $1.50 Thursday night, and by W. D. Bucklew, another filling station man, who lost $20 on the night of August 21. C. F. Longino, proprietor of a bakery at 517 Ponce de Leon avenue, identified the bandit pair Sunday as the two who took $10 from him at the point of a gun on the night of June 2.

The arrest of Spratlin and Smith followed their alleged robbery Saturday night of Jeff Wigington, Fair street battery and tire station manager, from whom they obtained $28.

Detectives W. W. Ford and W. D. McGee stated Monday that other recent robbery victims will be permitted to see the two this morning in an effort to connect them with additional holdups. They are being held without bail.

check them closely. A few of the messages obviously were wrong. The steamship America, in a dispatch to the United News, said that the sending from the plane was bad, and that all operators were having difficulty in getting figures accurately. In a couple of instances, apparently the plane gave its position erroneously, and corrected itself later.

The 6 p. m. message, reporting the ship as past the halfway mark, was received by the United News not only from the America, but was picked up by the Canadian Marconi Company at Montreal, the Mackay Radio Company at New York, and the Radiomarine Corporation at Chatham, Mass.

At 7:30 p. m., E. S. T., the Question Mark was in communication with the Louisburg radio station. It reported itself as rapidly nearing Newfoundland from its position far at sea.

At that hour, the weather here, so often execrable, was favorable. There was a light westerly wind, with low, light fog banks where so often there is a blinding woolly blanket of mist.

The French biplane, with its gallant crew, made steady progress through the day from the time it sluggishly rose from Le Bourget field—to clear a brook by only 50 feet at the end of at the runway. It was the sort of a start that Charles A. Lindbergh made on his flight to Paris, and the flight itself up to this evening had been the sort that Lindbergh made in the opposite direction to Le Bourget.

Just one hour after it passed the Irish coast at 10 a. m., the plane was sighted by the steamship Marie Therese 100 miles out at sea. In the next 30 minutes it made another 150 miles, and reported its position to the steamship Western Land. At 3:20 p. m., it reported itself 515 miles off the Irish coast. The America radioed the United News that at 4:27 the plane was approximately at 49:30 north, 28:30 west, or more than 100 miles furtherday had been maneuvered skillfully in the area of the 50th degree of latitude, first northward, then southward, in search of the best possible flying conditions.

A second message from the America said that at 5 p. m. the Question Mark was at 50:10 north, 30:40 west. Then came the 6 p. m. position, putting it over the halfway mark in the Atlantic leg of its flight and the Louisburg station report that at 7:30 the plane still was racing toward Newfoundland.

The messages showed the plane all

ST. LOUIS TRAIN WRECK
TOLL STANDS AT SIXDerailing of Crack Train Believed To Have Been Deliberate.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Six persons were killed, 11 were taken to hospitals and about 100 other passengers were shaken up, many receiving minor injuries, when the Texas Special of the St. Louis-San Francisco railroad was wrecked in the outskirts of St. Louis at 7:20 o'clock last night.

Railroad and county officials in charge of investigations today were convinced the speeding train was purposely wrecked by an obstruction of large rocks on the rails. No statement as to the motive was given. A report last night to general offices of the Frisco was that eight persons lost their lives, but Coroner John O'Connell said today only six were killed. They were: Engineer C. E. Ray, of Newburg, Mo.; Fireman E. T. White, of Maplewood, St. Louis suburb; Mrs. Isabel Newton, of Washington, D. C.; Charles Newton, of Washington, D. C.; Melchor Armbrula, 22, a laborer, St. Louis; an unidentified man and an unidentified young woman about 19. The girl's body was tentatively identified today by description as that of Louise Davis, of Fordland, Mo., who was on her way home from Chicago.

Nine of the injured were said to be in a serious condition. The train included the locomotive, combination car, chair car, a diner, eight Pullman coaches and a club car. All left the rails but Pullman and club cars remained upright.

The train carried about 200 passengers. It had thundered by the Osage Hills station, the last suburban post before moving into the Meramec river valley for an uninterrupted run of 120 miles to its first fuel stop when the disaster occurred.

Most of the passengers, bound for Texas and Oklahoma points, were preparing to retire or were making themselves comfortable in their berths. A few were having a late dinner in the diner, which was wrecked, and some were lounging in the club car. Only a few occupied the chair car and smoker, which was demolished.

Traveling at a speed variously estimated from 40 to 60 miles an hour, the huge oil-burning locomotive rounded a long curve into a deep "cut" close to a concrete highway when it left the rails, plowed about 500 feet along the right-of-way and nosed against a high rock wall. The coaches piled up in criss-cross fashion behind it. The combination car and the chair car were splintered.

INJURED BEAVERMAN PROVES SELF HERO. Although badly injured in the derailment of the Frisco de luxe passenger train, "The Texas Special," at Osage Hills last night, Atlee Wickersham, Springfield (Mo.) brakeman, crawled from the wrecked baggage and office car and stationed flagmen at each end of the wreckage to prevent other trains from running into it in the darkness.

Wickersham then sought a telephone about half a block from the scene of the wreck and telephoned P. W. Conley, superintendent of terminals, at the tower station here so that relief trains could be dispatched to the rescue.

The train left St. Louis at 6:30 p. m., for Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio and other Texas points. "We were only about 20 minutes out of St. Louis when the crash came," Wickersham said. "I was in the baggage and office car talking to Burck, Meador and Russell (members of the train crew). Ahead of us was the storage and mail car attached to the tender, but it was locked and there was no one in it. Behind us was the chair car, diner and eight Pullmans."

"All at once the train gave a powerful jerk and the lights went out. I knew we were in a wreck but that was all I knew for a few minutes for something struck and dazed me. When I regained full consciousness we were sitting in the dark. The steel walls of the car had not collapsed, but the wooden partition between the baggage and office compartments had craved in and some of the wreckage had fallen on me."

"When it collapsed, suitcases and trunks from the baggage compartment had been hurled helter-skelter and it's a wonder some of them didn't strike us and kill us."

"I don't know whether we turned over or not when we left the track, but our car was right side up, although off the track and at right angles to it."

"I could see the other boys lying about on the inside of the car. I backed out through a side door—I don't know how I did it—and as soon as I found some of the other members of the train crew I put them to each end of the wreck to flag other trains down, if any should come along. I couldn't even see where the engine was but all the other cars I could see were criss-crossed across the track and I realized there was danger if another train should come piling into them."

"However, I found out later that the eastbound freight, due about that time, had passed a few minutes before the wreck. Someone gave me a handkerchief to stop the blood from flowing down my face and I hunted up a telephone to call Mr. Conley."

"Everyone was calm but going about the rescue. I've been in one or two other wrecks, not so serious as this one, but I never saw a crowd behave better."

The Harold Lloyds
Will Adopt Orphan

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Harold Lloyd, film comedian, and his wife, the former Mildred Davis, motion picture actress, have expressed their intention of adopting legally Marjorie Elizabeth, a six-year-old orphan, taken into their home nine months ago.

The Lloyds said they decided a year ago their daughter, Gloria B., needed a sister. Little Peggy, with bobbed blond hair and blue eyes, was taken into Lloyd's Beverly Hills home, where she played with Gloria and won a place in the heart of the family.

FISHING FOR OYSTERS
STARTED IN MARYLAND

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1.—(AP)—With the yield expected to be among the best in years, both in quantity and quality, Chesapeake Bay oyster fishermen, idle since last spring, invaded rivers and coves today as the Maryland season opened.

The season on the Potomac river, one of the largest fishing grounds, does not open until September 15, however.

The continued hot weather which brought relief to inland residents is expected to pay dividends to the oyster fishermen, as it advanced the season and will assure full development of fat oysters, according to Sweeney Earle, state conservation commissioner.

Maryland has been more fortunate than Virginia, he said, as oyster oods in waters of that state have been harder hit by a blight.

CUBAN AUTHORITIES RELEASE U. S. WOMAN

Espionage Charge Against Mrs. Marlowe Is Dropped.

HAVANA, Sept. 1.—(P)—Mrs. Martha Lane Marlowe, American widow of a Cuban aviation officer, was released by the authorities today after investigation of charges against her of spying had been investigated.

Mrs. Marlowe, arrested Saturday just before her intended departure for Long Meadow, Mass., to visit her father, had been held in a prison cell at Marianna, where she had been on a hunger strike.

NEWARK, Ohio, Sept. 1.—(P)—Senora Martha Lane Marlowe, held in jail in Havana, Cuba, charged with espionage, is a native of Newark and a member of a prominent family here.

She was formerly Martha Lane. Mrs. W. J. Fitzgibbon, an aunt, today said she knew nothing of the affair other than what she had read in news dispatches. "Of course, we look upon the charges as perfectly ridiculous," she said.

Senora Marlowe met the Cuban air officer on a train while returning home from an eastern school, Mrs.

Fitzgibbon said. They were married after a short courtship.

BLAMES PENSION FOR DIFFICULTIES.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 1.—(P)—Allegations that she was held by Cuban authorities on false charges of high treason in order to curtail her pension from that government were made here tonight by Mrs. Martha Lane Marlowe, as she arrived by airplane from Havana.

Mrs. Marlowe was alleged by the Cuban government to have negotiated with secret agents of the United States and Colombia, South America, to sell a key to the Cuban army air corps code. She is the widow of a Cuban army flier who was killed July 1.

Mrs. Marlowe said she was released from jail today when she convinced authorities of her innocence.

She left Miami tonight by train for New York and Long Meadow, Mass., where she will visit her father, who is ill.

"I never knew a secret code existed in the Cuban air corps, and had I known of one, it would have been of no avail to me to sell it to the United States, since an officer of the United States army organized the Cuban corps," she said.

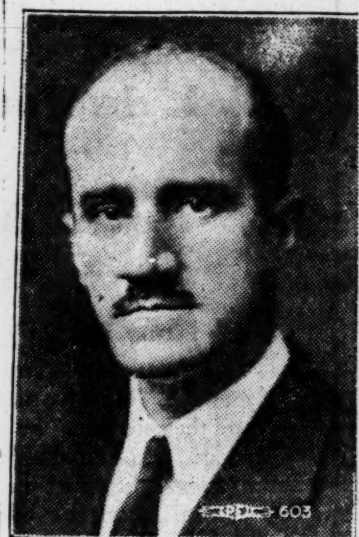

Mrs. Marlowe said she is 10 years old. She is the mother of two children.

She encountered difficulty in passing immigration authorities at the airport here, when she was unable at first to identify herself as an American citizen.

ALMAND TO DISCUSS ISSUES OF CAMPAIGN

Candidate for Legislature Will Speak Over Radio Tonight.

Issues of the campaign will be the topic which Bond Almand, candidate for the Fulton county legislature to succeed Dr. George Brown, will discuss tonight.

BOND ALMAND.

At 9:45 o'clock tonight over radio broadcasting station WSB, according to an announcement Monday from the Almand campaign committee.

Text of the statement follows: "Bond Almand has arranged to speak to the voters of Fulton county over the radio Tuesday night at 9:45 o'clock. He will discuss the various issues of the campaign. It is our hope that every voter of the county will hear him on this occasion.

"No more serious a task has ever presented itself to the citizens of Fulton county than the selection of those who are to represent them in the next legislature. Before the next general assembly will come many matters of vital importance and this great county, with its vast wealth and population, paying as it does the greater part of the state's taxes, is entitled to representatives of the highest character and ability, whose only interest is the best interest of the county and state.

"Before casting their ballots, the citizens owe a sacred duty to their state, to their county and to themselves to carefully investigate the character and qualification of each of the candidates offering for this high office. The best way to ascertain a candidate's character is to inquire of those who know him intimately. The best way to determine a candidate's fitness for office is to inquire of those of his own business or profession who come in daily contact with him.

"Mr. Almand has practiced law in Fulton county for the past 11 years and has gained the confidence and respect of all who know him. If you do not know him personally, ask the man who does, and you will vote for Bond Almand."

Philippine Business Good, Report Shows

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(P)—Dwight Davis, governor general of the Philippines, in a report today to the secretary of war, said the year 1929 was on the whole satisfactory for the people of the islands and the government.

He said the prosperous condition of the country was reflected in increased revenues but there was evidence business would be poorer for 1930. He added this should cause no undue alarm since the government and apparently most business firms were in a sound position financially.

The governor general said he had disapproved 40 bills passed by the Philippine legislature. He commented that most of these showed signs of a lack of careful study. He said the legislature in some cases attempted what he regarded as an encroachment on executive powers and that one bill was disapproved for this reason.

The report, referring to attempts in congress to place a duty on Philippine imports to the United States, said the attitude of the Filipinos had been admirable. Davis said they depended on the good faith and sense of justice of the American people. He said the lack of irresponsible statements was conspicuous. He said the islands had been advised to decrease the production of sugar because of a world oversupply and to concentrate on more desirable crops.

Rail Magnate Dies After Long Illness

DETROIT, Sept. 1.—(P)—E. D. Bronner, vice president of the Michigan Central railroad, died early this morning at his apartment in the Whittier hotel here. Mr. Bronner had been ill since last May.

He was born in Buffalo, N. Y., and was 71 years old. He was a graduate of the United States Naval academy and began his railway career as a draftsman in the car department of the Canadian Southern railway at St. Thomas, Ont., in 1880.

After a series of promotions through positions in the car and motive power departments, he became general manager in 1912 and was made a vice president. During the World War he served as federal manager. He became vice president of the Michigan Central March 1, 1920.

He was president of the Detroit Terminal railway and had interests in other transportation and industrial enterprises.

His first wife, who was Mattie M. Bailey, of Lansing, Mich., died in 1921. He married Mrs. Frances March McKicken in 1923.

4 PERSONS DROWNED WHEN BOAT CAPSIZES

McCALL, Idaho, Sept. 1.—(P)—Caught in the rough wind-whipped waters of Payette lake when their small motor-driven rowboat overturned yesterday four Nampa, Idaho, residents were drowned while scores of horror-stricken people watched from the banks, unable to do their rescue.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Betts and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Horner. Witnesses said they had been repeatedly warned to stay off the lake until the wind subsided. A quarter of a mile from the shore the boat was filling rapidly when it overturned after being caught by a huge breaker, witnesses said. Six children, none more than 12 years old, were made orphans by the tragedy.

MRS. S. LYNN RHORER PASSES AT HOME HERE

Prominent Atlanta Woman Was Leader in Welfare Work Here.

Mrs. S. Lynn Rhorer, 56, widow of S. L. Rhorer, well-known Atlanta businessman and one of the south's best-known astronomers, and mother of Horace L. Rhorer, president of the Georgia Paint Company, died Monday afternoon at her residence, 50 The Prado, south, after a long illness.

Mrs. Rhorer, whose husband preceded her in death on March 25 of last year, had been in declining health since last October. Born in Helena, Ark., she was reared in Kentucky, where she lived until she moved to Atlanta in 1895. She was prominently connected with social welfare work in Atlanta until her last illness.

Funeral services will be conducted from Spring Hill chapel at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning and interment will take place in West View cemetery attended by only members of the immediate family.

Mrs. Rhorer is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Wallace Montgomery, of New York city, and Miss Dorothy Rhorer, of Atlanta; one son, Horace L. Rhorer, of Atlanta; her mother, Mrs. Mamie Chapline, and grandsons, John R. Simpson III, Robert Cleland and Horace L. Rhorer, Jr., all of Atlanta.

WAS TORMENTED WITH INDIGESTION FOR TWO YEARS

Sargon Brought Health When Everything Else Had Failed, Says College Park Woman.

"Sargon is so entirely different from other medicines that I want sufferers everywhere to know how my whole system responded to this wonderful treatment," recently stated

MISS ANNA L. JOHNSTONE

Miss Anna L. Johnstone, 131 E. Cambridge Ave., College Park, Greater Atlanta.

"I'd been tormented for two years with sickening attacks of indigestion, accompanied by extreme gas bloating and acute headaches. I was subject to severe backaches too, with pains all through my body, and my nerves were almost completely shattered. A sluggish liver and the worst kind of constipation were responsible, I think, for my condition, and medicines failed to give me any lasting relief. A good neighbor, who had recovered her health through the Sargon treatment, advised me to try it, and I'll always feel indebted to her, as only two bottles rid me of the headaches, backaches and body pains, and gave me a splendid appetite. I'm gaining in weight, my nerves are remarkably strengthened, and I feel better than in years.

"It's almost incredible how one bottle of Sargon Pills regulated my liver and bowels, and without pain or nausea. No other medicine can compare with the Sargon treatment."

The Sargon Man is at Jacobs' Main Store, 48 N. Broad St., Grant Bldg., here he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this celebrated new scientific product. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

plants to keep isolated sections of the upper Everglades in communication with the outside world during emergencies was a plan taken under consideration by the Okeechobee flood control and Everglades drainage boards in joint session with Governor Doyle Carlton here today. The proposal was referred to a committee on which the Red Cross and the communications division of the naval reserve have representatives.

Representatives of the two boards and of the Red Cross told of detailed plans for assisting Everglades communities in case of fall storms and for evacuating the inhabitants if necessary. With the fall storm season and early crop planting season arriving simultaneously relatively few complaints as to Everglades conditions were heard although some protests were voiced about high water conditions south and southeast of Lake Okeechobee, and William Griffith, flood control board member from Okeechobee City, declared Lake Okeechobee to be "in a very dangerous condition." Governor Carlton was asked to investigate the alleged refusal of the federal farm loan bank at Columbia, S. C., to make seed, feed and fertilizer loans in excess of $2,000 to all of the tenants on a piece of land owned by a single firm or individual. Authority was granted for the purchase of pumps for the state experimental station near Belle Glade from a $5,000 appropriation.

Havana Youth Clubbed to Death

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 1.—(P)—Robert Tibanez, 14-year-old son of a former Nashville (Tenn.) resident, was struck over the head and killed by a cane in the hand of an unidentified man today. His father, a pressman on the newspaper El Mundo, has lived in Cuba since the Spanish-American War.

Labor on Defensive, Union Head Declares

HOUSTON, Sept. 1.—(P)—Labor is more upon the defensive than at any time during the last decade, Charles F. Howard, of Indianapolis, president of the International Typographical Union, declared here today.

"Organized workers recently have been confronted with demands for wage and hour reduction and have suffered from unemployment," he explained.

"During the past year, the unorganized worker has suffered greatly from the application of the methods of reductions and increased hours will return prosperity. These workers must depend for protection upon the consciousness of their employers and business has no conscience. "Men now observe that business prosperity is inseparable from the purchasing power of the masses. The opportunity to sell depends upon the ability of the workers to buy and the ability of the workers to buy depends upon the employment and wages.

"Outstanding industrialists have declared that reducing wages or depriving workers of employment is not a remedy for business depression."

WINTER DAYS?

Summertime is vacation time!

But wintertime . . . ah, that's another story! There's many a man, and woman too, for that matter, who would welcome a vacation from the old-time winter story of tending the furnace . . . building fires, cleaning grates, shoveling ashes. Where's the joy in that?

On the other hand, merely say the word and you need no longer be a martyr to the winter heating problem with all its fuss and bother.

Let us modernize your present furnace or boiler to burn gas. It will be appreciated by every member of the family . . . not only for its sure, cozy warmth, but for its healthful cleanliness and complete freedom from any kind of trouble.

Gas is the ideal fuel! Indeed, there is nothing like it . . . no substitute half as satisfactory. It is clean and efficient. It will not soot your walls or soil your drapes. Free of fumes, gas is healthier and safer. And it requires no attention! Just set the convenient wall thermostat to the degree of heat you want and forget all about it for the rest of the winter.

That's the whole story.

Our heating engineers gladly will confer with you whenever and wherever you wish. Just call us by phone or drop us a card. Learn how easily, quickly and economically your present furnace or boiler can be equipped . . . modernized . . . to burn gas. Let us tell you about the installations we've made in your community.

SUSPENSION MEASURE IS TABLED BY COUNCIL

Body Declines To Take Action on Paper, Opposed by Millican.

Declining to take any definite action on a proposal to authorize borough council to suspend any members indicted by the Fulton county grand jury for offenses involving moral turpitude, that body Monday afternoon voted unanimously to table the measure when it was reported out of the ordinance committee by Councilman Joseph E. Berman, chairman.

Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth ward, author of the original paper, which provided for suspension by a majority vote of those attending any session of council, opposed the measure because it had been redrafted to require a two-thirds vote of those attending to suspend.

He also demanded that his name as one of the proponents of the revision measure be taken from it, stating that the paper had been changed and that he did not agree to the change.

Mr. Millican declared that he would offer a paper "when I can pass it."

Kill the Cause Of Skin Trouble calling for suspension on a majority vote of those present.

Alderman Clarence Ashley, of the fourth ward, declared he doubted the authority of council to suspend any elected official of the government under the present charter.

The charter provides three ways for the removal of any elected official, and I doubt the authority of this body to set up another," he declared. "The first is by impeachment, the second, resignation, and the third through a recall. I doubt seriously whether another way could be set up by this body without a charter amendment."

Following the Ashley speech, Councilman James L. Wells, of the eighth ward, moved that the measure be tabled, and Alderman Millican seconded it. The paper was tabled by unanimous vote.

Residential Building Called Business Key

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(P)—L. Seth Schmittman, chief statistician of the F. W. Dodge Corporation, says in point of view, the principal function of the residential building is the key to the revival in the construction industry and, through it, recovery in general business.

The extensive activity in the industry during the years after the 1920-21 depression received its principal impetus from residential building. Mr. Schmittman points out, but doubts that it will be restored to its primary position before 1932.

He views as encouraging the liquidation of the overcapacity of housing that followed the war, and says the time is apparently approaching when better balance between supply and demand may be expected. The stage is being set, he declares, for creation of large housing corporations rivalling many of our large industrial concerns in point of size.

Red Meeting Barred In Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 1.—(P)—A meeting advertised as a communist gathering was broken up today by police, who arrested four of the alleged leaders. Clarence Hurt, acting chief of police, said the action was taken because merchants complained the crowd was obstructing traffic and not because of the nature of the meeting.

The crowd was estimated at between 500 and 800 persons. Those arrested were charged with disorderly conduct. All were released on their own bond after the crowd following them to the station had dispersed.

Market Centers Waxing Optimism

BY ELMER C. WALZER,
United News Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(U.S.)—Stock and commodity markets will open tomorrow after a three-day holiday in an atmosphere of optimism for the future.

Labor Day is a traditional landmark in the field of finance and industry. It is usually expected that business in the second week of the month will increase as compared with midsummer months.

This fall observers are expecting a substantial pickup in general business. Some venture to say that this expansion will be of slightly more than normal magnitude. They see as augurs improved conditions noted in the steel business and in building. They point out that car loadings have picked up and that railroad earnings for July showed an improvement over June.

The curb exchange already is equipped with high speed tickers. Traders were looking forward to tonight to a continuation of last week's advance on the stock market, when the United States Steel began an upward movement that influenced other high-grade industrials to join the parade. Rails and coal joined the movement late in the week.

Dividend uncertainty and lower earnings prospects for many companies may account for some weak spots, but the general feeling is that they will have little effect on the general list for the market seems to be entering a phase in which all the bad news already has been anticipated.

E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc. and North American Trust Shares The Largest Fixed Investment Trust

WHEN Admiral Perry, in the War of 1812, sent the famous message, "We have met the enemy and they are ours," he might have added, "thanks to du Pont powder."

From those first du Pont powder mills on the banks of the Brandywine has grown a corporation operating mills and factories scattered from one end of the country to the other and turning out, beside explosives, paints, dyestuffs, Fabrikoid, Pyralin, Duco, Rayon, Cellophane, synthetic ammonia and numerous other products. The du Pont Company has a large investment in the General Motors Corporation.

The chances are that there are a large number of du Pont products used by you daily in your home and office. This widespread use and great variety of products gives some indication of the potentialities of this business.

Each North American Trust Share gives you an interest in the profits of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, Inc., and 27 other major corporations, such as New York Central Railroad and American Telephone & Telegraph.

Points About N. A. T. S.

- 1—Each NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARE represents an investment in the common stocks of 28 outstanding corporations, leaders in their respective fields.
- 2—An investment in NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARES is as sound as American industry itself. The products and services of the companies, the common stocks of which underlie this trust, are directly related to every phase of human life.
- 3—The underlying stocks, all of which are listed on the New York Stock Exchange, are deposited with the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Trustee. The trustee issues 2,000 N. A. T. S. upon the deposit of a share of each of the underlying stocks together with applicable reserve fund and accumulations.
- 4—The 28 underlying companies have an average unbroken dividend record of 33 years, combined total assets of more than 24 billion dollars and combined surplus and reserves of over 6.7 billion dollars.
- 5—N. A. T. S. are readily marketable. In addition to the established market which has been maintained at 1/2 point below the asked price the holder of the smallest denomination of shares may liquidate through the trustee without penalty. The holder of 500 shares or any multiple thereof may convert through the trustee into the underlying stocks.
- 6—Each certificate carries coupons calling for semi-annual disbursement of all distributions received by the trustee on the deposited stocks. On June 30, 1930, a semi-annual income and capital distribution of $1.34 per share was made.
- 7—N. A. T. S. holders are offered rights semi-annually permitting reinvestment of all return in excess of cash dividends on deposited stocks at a discount from the asked price. This program results in retention of appreciation and maintenance of original diversification.
- 8—N. A. T. S. are available in denominations ranging from 10 shares to 10,000 shares. Thus an investment in the shares of 28 leading corporations can be made for less than $100.
- 9—Current price for N. A. T. S. per share is about

$8.25

THE THIRD DISCOVERY OF GAS

Gas began to displace candles and whale-oil for LIGHTING in this country about 1815. Then, as gas lights were themselves being displaced by electric bulbs in the 90's, a new use for gas became popular—COOKING.

The third discovery of gas did not take place until the past decade. Gas was found to be superior for HEATING. This new demand helped to make the production of gas during the last ten years greater than the total produced during all the previous 110 years of the industry.

Gas for House Heating

House heating by gas holds an especially bright future.

It banishes from winter months the burden of shoveling fuel, handling ashes, building new fires, regulating heat. Lighted in the fall, a gas furnace automatically maintains a constant temperature indoors all winter.

Burning of gas helps in conservation of fuel. A ton of coal, burned in the average household furnace, gives only half as many heat units as the gas produced from a ton of coal in a gas manufacturing plant. Gas is a clean fuel; it does not soil curtains, hangings, or walls. With gas heat the cellar becomes a habitable part of the house.

Associated Increase 33% a Year

Two facts emphasize possibilities of house heating by gas. It is estimated that of about 13 million domestic customers in this country, only about 75,000 use gas for house heating. While the average customer uses only 30,000 cubic feet of gas a year, the consumer used it for house heating burns 300,000 cubic feet a year. Although less than one-half of 1% of the Associated System's gas customers use gas for house heating, yet their consumption was 7% of total sales in 1929. Homes heated by gas supplied by the Associated System are increasing at the rate of 33% a year.

Macon Banker Still in Jail, Asks Early Hearing of Case

"Ready To Take Medicine," Says T. W. Hawkes, Charged With Embezzlement of $91,000.

MACON, Ga., Sept. 1.—(P)—While the loss to the Merchants and Mechanics Bank remained in doubt Monday, T. W. Hawkes, its defaulting president, remained in jail unwilling to have bond furnished for his liberty, and J. T. Perry, Atlanta auditor, was checking the institution's accounts carefully to determine other probable discrepancies.

Hawkes sat on his cot in the jail cell Monday, all about him a large assortment of beautiful flowers, and commented that he "rather remain in jail than have to face my friends."

"I'm going to take my medicine, and come back here," he said. "I am going to make a man of myself."

Suggestions made by friends that others might be implicated in the theft of the $91,000 charged to him, met with instant disapproval of the banker.

"I've admitted it, and I'm ready to pay," he said.

Mr. Perry said he was pleased that newspaper reporters called on him, but reiterated that he didn't like to talk about the case and desired to say nothing for publication.

"I haven't got a penny now. I've turned in all my property, and everything I ever owned. If I were to leave the jail right now I wouldn't have a cent to do anything with. All I have is what some friends have given me to buy little things here."

Mr. Perry, connected with the Audit Company of the South, said he had "barely scratched the surface" in his audit of the bank's accounts.

Orville A. Park, attorney for the state banking department, said Saturday that the loss, when everything has been figured, likely will be around $125,000, but it was said today that the possibility is it will be much greater.

Mr. Hawkes' bond totals $15,000. His property which he immediately turned over to the bank will approximate $10,000, it was said, and the stockholders' assessments will bring in $25,000—the amount of the capital stock, less the assessment on the stock held by Mr. Hawkes himself, who is said to have held $11,000 of the $25,000 capital.

The liquidating agent cannot hope to recover on that portion, it was said.

Then there must be an allowance for bad papers, bankers state. The directors have indicated that they must be treated as other depositors with respect to the money which they have on deposit in the institution.

Mr. Perry's work, it is said, will be completed in perhaps another week or little longer. Stockholders and depositors will be called at that time when they will have the exact status of affairs.

The liquidating agent, appointed by the state banking department, will begin his work. A committee representing the stockholders and depositors will co-operate, it was said.

All other licenses must be issued from the office of the tide-water commissioner at Brunswick this year. The new oyster laws have been prepared in pamphlet form and are available to the tide-water office here, according to Mr. Seegers.

REVISAL MEET OPENS AT NEW HOPE CHURCH

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Sept. 1.—(P)—The annual revisal meeting opened Sunday morning at New Hope church, five miles east of Lawrenceville, the Rev. W. H. Venable, pastor, in charge, with J. C. Day song leader.

New Hope church is one of the oldest Methodist churches in the county.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Sept. 1.—(P)—Georgia's oyster season opened Monday with J. F. Seegers, commissioner of the tide-water department of the state board of game and fish, calling attention to new oyster laws passed by the board since last year.

One of the most drastic changes, he said, was that all public oyster beds are closed for a period of three years, beginning today, and oystermen must lease or own oyster grounds, or have written authority from recognized land-owner or lessee before they can gather oysters.

This written authority must be presented along with application for license, and all without this authority or license will be subject to punishment by law, Mr. Seegers said.

All oyster licenses must be issued from the office of the tide-water commissioner at Brunswick this year. The new oyster laws have been prepared in pamphlet form and are available to the tide-water office here, according to Mr. Seegers.

Missing 2-Year-Old Child Is Found in Cotton Field

ADAIRSVILLE, Ga., Sept. 1.—A 24-hour search by a posse of 100 men for John Darnell, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Darnell, who disappeared from the home here Sunday afternoon when the child was found in a cotton field near here.

The child was found in a cotton field near here. The parents, who live at Emerson, four miles south of Aदािरsville, spent the night searching without success.

Officers had expressed fear that the boy had wandered down the highway unnoticed, was run over by an automobile and placed in the car to be disposed of.

The sheriff and all his deputies here, aided by Aदािरsville residents, spent the night searching without success.

NEW CHICKAMAUGA SCHOOL DEDICATED

Visitors From All Parts of District and Tennessee in Attendance.

CHICKAMAUGA, Ga., Sept. 1.—The three units of the new Lee high school, built by provision in the will of Gordon Lee, was dedicated here Monday with visitors from all parts of this district and Tennessee in attendance.

C. M. Preston, vice president of the Hamilton National Bank, in Chattanooga, Tenn., presided at the dedication exercises.

The program included addresses by W. C. Wright, of Newnan, and Colonel G. E. Maddox.

Presentation of the buildings was made by Mr. Preston and a speech of acceptance was delivered by F. H. Henderson, chairman of the Chickamauga board of education.

Other features were a flag-raising ceremony at 9:30 o'clock; violin solo, by Lester Cohn; vocal solo, by Mrs. Z. A. Stanfield; invocation, by the Rev. W. A. Colquhoun and benediction by the Rev. C. R. McGinnis.

School will open at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The buildings, except the superintendent's home and the home for teachers, have been constructed and are now ready for occupancy.

The grounds have been landscaped and the whole presents a magnificent appearance. The work was completed by the city of Chickamauga.

All buildings are of fire-proof construction throughout. The foundation and frame work are of reinforced concrete. The walls are of brick and hollow tile—also the partitions. The ground floors are concrete covered with tile-tile. The second floors are concrete covered with wood. The roof is covered with asbestos shingles. All halls are terrazzo. The stairs are concrete. The whole plant was designed to be as nearly as possible indestructible.

The buildings are heated from a central heating plant, which is of the very latest design, and modern in every way, equipped with stokers. The buildings are furnished with hot and cold water from central plant and have been neatly and tastefully furnished.

The provisions of Mr. Lee's will, for a school plant of $30,000, $5,000 for fireproof dormitories; $8,000 for a superintendent's home and $17,000 for a teachers' home; 15 acres adjoining his home to be used as a site for the plant; $40,000 to be in trust, the interest to be used as a fund for worthy boys and girls of the city; $50,000, the interest to be used for the upkeep of buildings; $40,000 interest to be used in buying books and periodicals for the library; $5,000 interest for the salary for a librarian.

The will, also, provides that 20 years after Mr. Lee's death, the residue of his estate shall be disposed of and from this, $50,000 shall be used either to build a new school.

H. C. Brewer is chairman of the committee which sponsored the day's program and Wyatt H. Foster, secretary of the chamber of commerce, assisted him.

Prizes in various contests were furnished by merchants and manufacturers of the city.

LAWRENCEVILLE GETS NEW COTTON GINNERY

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Sept. 1.—Lawrenceville will be well supplied with ginneries for fall business. O. R. Whitlock has erected a first-class gin on the Buford highway on the north side of town. The outfit is modern in every respect and has four 80-saw gins. W. T. Tanner, the hardware merchant, has erected a complete ginnery on the old Lawrenceville Branch railroad site, this ginnery will operate three 80-saw stands for the present and will use the air blast system.

E. B. Rockmore has made extensive improvements on his gin property. This is the largest ginnery in this section, operating 8-80 saw stands. Altogether this section will experience no trouble in getting quick action in having their cotton ginned. The crop will turn out considerably less than last year.

Tip Starts Search For $15,000 Loot

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A $100 bill failed to keep William J. Whalen "mum" and today capital police were looking for two employees of the Southern Dairies, Inc., who last night walked off with more than $15,000 of the company's funds.

The story told by Whalen, a driver for the company, was that the two men came to the offices of the dairy and told the night watchman they wished to get some belongings. They left soon and the cash contents of the safe went along. As they passed him, Whalen said, they tossed him a $100 bill and ordered him to keep "mum."

FORTY MILLION ADULTS want a cereal like this

... because of its combination of delicious flavor and special health-regulating benefits!

Out of 56,000,000 adults in this country, 85% (40,000,000) according to the medical profession, are irregular in health-habits.

Vegetables and fruits, the logical correctives, are not acceptable to all.

Now an extra luscious cereal (not a bran-food) comes to supplement the vegetables and fruits and thus "lend a most attractive hand" in health regulation. It includes soft, fluffy particles of vegetable-cellulose, the same kind that the best vegetables and fruits themselves contain.

These fine particles which you cannot see or taste increase in bulk four to six times when moisture is absorbed after eating, forming one of the mildest, gentlest yet most effective types of natural bulk and roughage known.

Thus HEINZ Rice Flakes, while offering the most delicious flavor, also perform a service that no others can.

Serve them twice daily for one week (at breakfast and for dessert at lunch or dinner) to start the benefits; once daily thereafter to maintain them. Patented by HEINZ, you get this great advantage in HEINZ CEREALS ALONE.

Excellent for children. Your money back from any grocer if not satisfactory in every way. Send post-card now for free booklet "Children's Futures Told in Foods" with sections about adult's needs. Address H. J. Heinz Company, Dept. R-16, Pittsburgh, sole makers of this new triumph in foods.

Wreck of Sunken Steamer Bearing 8 Millions Is Found

ITALIAN DIVERS LOCATE GOLD-LADENED CRAFT

BREST, France, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The sunken wreck of the steamer Egypt, which went down after a collision in 1922, has been located off the coast by Italian divers. The Egypt carried a treasure of $8,000,000 in gold.

The wreck was located off Armentières, near Bourdeaux, by the treasure-seeking tug Artiglio. The Artiglio had been working persistently under all kinds of weather conditions to find the wreck, which had drifted from the place where it originally went to the bottom.

Divers who were able to get aboard the wreck identified it by its two funnels and one of the lifeboats. They immediately began the work of opening up the deck. If the present fine weather continues they expect to be able to reach the ship's safe, where her immense treasure has been lying for more than eight years.

The steamship Egypt, a passenger liner, was sent to the bottom May 20, 1922, by collision with a French ship in a heavy fog on the coast of Spain near Finistere, with the loss of about 100 passengers and crew and nearly 250 saved by the crew of the Seine, the other ship in the crash.

The Egypt was in the Indian service and had aboard all told 38 passengers and a crew of 290, many of them Indians.

The Egypt, besides her cargo of money, was loaded with produce of many kinds. She was a vessel of 8,000 tons. At the same point near Green Rocks the liner Drummond Castle was sunk in June, 1896, in which disaster 247 lives were lost.

Among the Americans who perished in the sinking of the Egypt were Mrs. M. L. Sibley, of Toledo, Ohio, a missionary, and Miss Virginia Boyer, also going to India as a missionary.

The Egypt was a Peninsular and Oriental line steamer. Passengers blamed the crew for the heavy loss of life. Very few bodies, not more than a score in all, were recovered. About 18 bags of United States mail were included in the lost property.

In 1925 a Japanese salvage company announced its intention to attempt to bring up the sunken treasure. The next year German divers set to work on the task, establishing during their operations a new depth record of 330 feet.

In May, 1929, announcement was made that Italians would resume the work which others then had failed to accomplish. The Italian expedition was then headed by Lieutenant Cunierti. The expedition reached Brest with its equipment on May 23 last year. At that time the sunken steamer had been located on the bottom but the task had proven too great for the Swedish and German undersea operators who had made actual attempts to get at the colossal treasure. The divers had reached the wreck and identified the hull to a reasonable certainty but had been unable to penetrate to the hold, which contained the money and bars of gold.

Methodists End
Junaluska Meet

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Junaluska assembly of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, officially closed its 1930 session, and its seventeenth year of operation, today.

Ralph E. Nollner, general superintendent of the assembly, said the session was one of the best in its history, and that the assembly "faces the future with every prospect of becoming a nationally-known religious metropolis where educational features, recreational activities, and cultural and spiritual life programs will continue to attract an ever-increasing summer colony."

Mr. Nollner said he based his prediction on the fact that the season just closed, the first since the property has passed from private ownership to the control of the church, has witnessed steady and increasing attendance and has been attended with every mark of satisfactory progress.

Assembly officials estimated that approximately 16,000 persons have been on the grounds this season for a stay ranging from three days to two months.

The general superintendent feels the church's press bureau says, that recognition of the assembly by the general conference of the church as a "valuable educational agency of the church, guarantees increasing patronage of southern Methodists and safeguards any gifts made to the institution."

Mr. Nollner reported that plans had been drawn for improving the grounds and enlarging the program for the next season.

Lectures, moving pictures, Shakespearean plays, musicals and dramatic recitals were among entertainment features of the assembly.

Notables Review Firemen's Parade

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Virginia firemen with the fire fighters of five other states and the District of Columbia marched today in review before Governor Pollard, Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, district officials, and scores of thousands of spectators in the annual Labor Day firemen's parade.

More than two hours the procession passed steadily past the reviewing stand on historic Pennsylvania avenue. Dozens of spectators were prostrated by the broiling September sun and taken to hospitals, straining facilities. Numbers of the paraders had to drop out.

Among the prostrations were Randolph Bridge, 15, Middleburg, Va., and Maybelle Cumbrie, 25, Roanoke, Virginia.

Maryland and Virginia firemen led the parade with West Virginia, Delaware, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey and District of Columbia units following. The Virginia contingent came from sixteen cities and communities.

The Bedford band, resplendent in blue capes lined with white and white trousers, led the Virginians. They were followed by the Bedford fire department with the Alexandria department headed by the Citizens' band next.

A company of Alexandria firemen marching behind the band and bringing up the rear just ahead of an Alexandria hook and ladder and engine companies from Ballston, Clarendon, Cherrylee, Balls Church, and the Jefferson district of Arlington county.

The Boys' Independent band, of Washington, with their lady drum major marched with the Virginians.

Then Arlington Volunteer Fire Department No. 2 and trucks and engine companies from Ballston, Clarendon, Cherrylee, Balls Church, and the Jefferson district of Arlington county.

P.-T.A. To Close Summer Round-Up Campaign Nov. 1

The following release from the publicity office of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers is of importance and interest to the entire membership:

"Activities of the 1930 summer round-up of the children is drawing to a close and the final check up will determine the success of this project. With the opening of school comes the final examination of the children to find how many of the defects pointed out in the spring examination have been corrected.

"The summer round-up campaign is a health activity of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers for the purpose of sending to the entering grade of school a class of children one hundred per cent free from remediable physical defects."

Mrs. M. T. Edgerton, summer round-up chairman of the Georgia congress, gives the following information concerning the 1930 campaign which closes November 1, when final reports must be in the national office. "There are 102 pre-school associations registered in the state. Atlanta, Macon and Savannah being credited with one hundred per cent registration, with Fulton county being the only one hundred per cent registered county. To receive credit in the national organization it is necessary to hold the fall examination and send a report accompanied by a brief account of the method employed and the cooperation secured in the campaign, to the national campaign office, 5517 Germantown avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., not later than November 1. Report blanks of the campaign will be mailed to each participating unit September 1. The goal for the 1930 campaign is the completion of the project for the 102 associations already registered and the organization and registration of every association in Georgia for the campaign next spring. Now is the time to organize and appoint a chairman for the finest piece of health work that a P.-T. A. can undertake. The need and importance of such a campaign is apparent when it is reported that the average American child is only 25 per cent physically equipped; that 3,000,000 school children have defective hearing of varying degrees; that in a study of pre-school children about 25 per cent needed glasses; and that here in Georgia in one city alone out of 1,121 children examined in the first 1930 summer round-up examination last May only 377 were normal, 744, or 66 per cent, were found defective, and this might be a normal picture of any group of Georgia children."

complete list of associations with correct names and addresses, Mrs. Charles Hilburn is the efficient president of the sixth district.

At a meeting of representative men and women of Duluth in the school auditorium Friday evening a P.-T. A. was organized with 50 charter members. The movement was sponsored by a group of mothers of the community who advertised the meeting with an invitation to every school patron. K. E. Taylor, superintendent of the Gwinnett county schools, made the principal address. Mrs. W. W. Puett was elected president of this newest association of the Georgia congress.

Moreland, Ga., boasts of a new association organized in the late spring which has carried on through the summer in true parent-teacher spirit. As the result of the state president's visit to Cedartown another association was added to the Georgia congress. The state treasurer has received the first quarterly dividend from the Child Welfare Magazine Company. The quarterly dividends to be received by the states from the Child Welfare of Georgia.

Miss Convere McAden Is Honor Guest.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Grant entertained Sunday evening at their home on Eleventh street at a buffet supper honoring Miss Convere McAden, of Charlotte, N. C., the attractive guest of Miss Mary Ann Carr, at her home on Wesley avenue.

The reception rooms were adorned with garden flowers used in artistic arrangement, and invited to meet Miss McAden were 25 members of the younger set of society.

Company is a new venture of the national organization; the amount given each state is based upon the total number of subscriptions sent in quarterly from the state.

The state president's itinerary the past month has covered several sections of the state; of importance was the conference with Governor Hardman relative to schools laws, finances and other points vital to the schools.

SHERLOCK HOLMES—"Silver Blaze"

We all stood in Straker's cottage viewing the contents of the dead trainer's pockets. Holmes continued to inspect the curious knife. "I presume this is the knife found in the murdered man's hand," he said. "Surely this is in your line, Watson." "It is what is called a cataract knife—a very delicate blade devised for very delicate work," I replied.

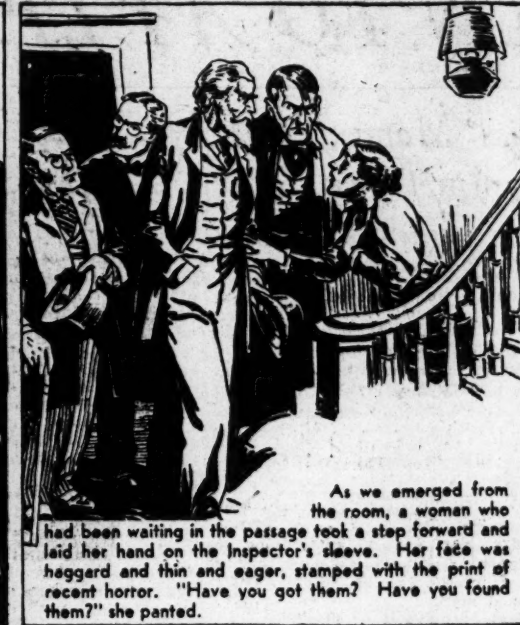

"Straker's wife tells us," broke in the Inspector, "that the knife had lain upon the bedroom table, and that her husband picked it up as he left the room that fatal morning. It was a poor weapon, but perhaps the best he could lay hands on at the moment."

The Strange Knife.

As to the papers, Holmes was interested only in one, a London milliner's bill for thirty-seven pounds, made out to William Derbyshire, the principal item being a dress of dove-colored silk. Mrs. Straker had said Derbyshire was a friend of her husband's. "Madame Derbyshire had expensive tastes," remarked Holmes.

By SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

As we emerged from the room, a woman who had been waiting in the passage took a step forward and laid her hand on the Inspector's sleeve. Her face was haggard and thin and eager, stamped with the print of recent horror. "Have you got them? Have you found them?" she panted.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

STRIPED CHIPMUNK GIVES ADVICE.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Experience gives sound advice. You could not buy at any price. —Old Mother Nature.

Impy, the Black Chipmunk, was just completing his bedroom when he was startled by the sound of some one in his long hall. "He stopped to listen. 'Some one is coming,' thought Impy. 'Oh dear, who can it be? I hope it isn't an enemy. For, if it is, I am caught. There is no way for me to escape. Oh dear, oh dear, I wish I had a back door!'"

And then Impy experienced great relief. His nose brought him that relief. You see, his nose picked up the scent of the one who was coming down that long hall. Impy knew it was his father, Striped Chipmunk. Sure enough, a second later Striped Chipmunk appeared in the little bedroom.

"So," said Striped Chipmunk, "you have seen all of the Great World you want to see and are settling down." "Yes," replied Impy. "But how did you find me?"

"Oh," replied Striped Chipmunk, "I had an idea you wouldn't go very far, and so this morning as I had nothing else in particular to do I thought I would look you up. You came farther than I thought you would and I might not have found you but that I remembered the pile of stones outside. You see, I have been over here before. When I found the pile of stones it didn't take me long to find the entrance to your home. That pile of sand out there gives it away. If Shadow the Weasel should come along, you wouldn't have a chance in the world. He would find that entrance right away and follow you in here. If you will take my advice you will have a carefully hidden entrance with no telltale sand around it."

"That's what I am planning," said Impy. "If you come outside, I'll show you where my entrance is to be." So they went outside and Impy took Striped Chipmunk over to a hollow log in which was a knothole on the lower side. "There," said Impy, with some pride, "is where my entrance is going to be. What do you think of that?"

Striped Chipmunk shook his head. "It won't do," said he. "Why won't it do?" he manded Impy, looking very much surprised.

Then, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Harris, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Miss C. Holman, of Ridgecut, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holman, of Ridgecut, N. C.; and Mrs. Nash Rockwood, of New York, N. Y., are at the Biltmore.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Dowling and Mr. and Mrs. Ryburn Clay have returned from a week-end visit to Lookout Mountain Club, at Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Miss W. C. Mansfield, Miss N. T. Pritchett, Mrs. M. L. Heyser, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Hoffman are in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Rayfield will spend the winter with their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Rayfield, at their home on Camden road in Brookwood Hills. They made their home at the Georgian Terrace for several years.

Miss Theo Morgan left Saturday to attend the house party to be given by Miss Bess Mitter at her home on the Isle of Palms, S. C.

Mrs. Livingston Leeds and Miss Dorothy Leeds have reached New York, having arrived in the metropolis last Friday from Europe. They spent the past four months abroad, and will remain in New York at the Hotel Lexington for several days before coming to Atlanta to reside at the Georgian Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Sharp announce the birth of a daughter Monday, September 1, at St. Joseph's infirmary. The baby is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sharp. Her mother was formerly Miss Leticia Johnson, a popular member of the Junior League and is prominent in social circles.

Brewer Floyd is spending several days with his family at Chipley.

Miss Evelyn Lewis Returns From Boston.

Miss Evelyn Lewis, who has been spending the past six months in Boston, Mass., doing post-graduate work in literature, public speaking and drama, recently returned to Atlanta.

Miss Lewis received the B. L. I. degree from Emerson College of Oratory while in Boston. She did some teaching at the college and also gave some readings on the faculty recital program of the Emerson summer session.

Ft. McPherson Contingent Sees Exodus for School and College

FORT MCPHERSON, Sept. 1.—With the vacation season ending and the school day period in the offing, the military contingent are preparing for the opening of their chosen colleges and schools. The sub-detachments who form such an attractive part of the garrison and town social circles will return to the high schools here in Atlanta.

Miss Marjorie Ripley, Miss Mary Bach, who will return this week from an enjoyable stay at camp in Vermont, and Miss Dorothy Holliday will be a trio of returning schoolgirls at the post. Miss Helen Bach, who has been summering at the post at the home of her parents, Colonel Christian A. Bach and Mrs. Bach, will leave soon for Mount Holyoke, Mass., where she is enrolled in the senior class. Miss Jackie Enns will attend Girl's High school and Miss Doris Macklin, who has a decided talent in drawing, plans to continue her studies in art. Miss Helen Franke, Miss Rosa Peck, Miss Francis Longino, Miss Roslyn Pate and Miss Sarah Green are a four some of the schoolgirl contingent who live in town and will return to school this fall. Miss Sarah Bowman, the daughter of Major Walter O. Bowman and Mrs. Bowman, will resume her studies at Agnes Scott college, where she will be a member of the junior class.

Among the masculine set there will be a general exodus for various institutions of learning during the next fortnight. Thomas Bamberger will return to Stanton Military college early in September, while Don Cornell will return to Georgia Military academy. Another student at G. M. A. will be Wood Joerg, who has recently returned to attend the academy from Porto Rico, where Captain Joerg is stationed. Walter Bowman will attend Georgia Tech this season and Murray Cheston is a cadet at the West Point Military academy. Among the students at Tech High the coming year will be Burwell Cheston from the fort. Miss Aline Williams will open a kindergarten in the post library building in mid-September. Miss Williams has had special training in kindergarten work at the Maryland State College for Women at Baltimore, and the kindergarten will be held especially for the army children.

Recent attractive additions in garrison circles are Major Steven Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain, who have arrived from Washington for station. Major Chamberlain will be in command of the second battalion of the Twenty-second infantry and both he and Mrs. Chamberlain have a number of friends in Atlanta who are eager to welcome them to the post. Major Chamberlain has an enviable record as an officer of the United States army and has been awarded the distinguished service medal and the navy cross. He is a graduate of the infantry school of the advanced course and an honor graduate of the command and general staff school.

FULTON GRAND JURY TO BE SWORN TODAY

Recommendations of the July-August term Fulton county grand jury, urging an investigation of county affairs, will be called to the attention of the incoming grand jury this morning by Judge John D. Humphries in his charge, Judge Humphries said Monday afternoon.

Judge Humphries will swear in the new September-October term grand jury at 9 o'clock this morning. He said that it is always proper to direct a new grand jury's attention to the recommendations of its predecessor, and that he will take this course.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, refreshed after a month's vacation, returned to his office for a short time Monday, and prepared to consult with his staff on matters which came up during his absence from the city. Mr. Boykin said he would not comment on the presentations of the last grand jury until he had had time to study them.

The grand jury presentations, returned Friday before Judge Humphries, declared that Fulton county tax money is being "lavishly spent" on county employees' salaries. The presentations recommended that a special solicitor be appointed to conduct the county investigation, and mentioned that this was no reflection on the judiciary or prosecuting officers, but was urged for the protection of those whose expenses have to be approved in part by the very officers who would be investigated.

The presentations also recommended that the municipal investigation be continued.

Miss Jessie Hopkins Assumes Duties as New Librarian Sept. 16

Miss Jessie Hopkins, prominent Atlantian, who succeeds Miss Tommie Dora Barker as librarian of the Atlanta branch of the Carnegie library, Miss Hopkins has served as assistant librarian at the Atlanta Carnegie library for the past 10 years and is well qualified to assume her duties as Atlanta's new librarian September 16. Photograph by Thurston Hatcher.

Miss Jessie Hopkins, prominent Atlanta woman and a widely known educator, will assume the duties of librarian for the Atlanta branch of the Carnegie library September 16. Miss Hopkins succeeds Miss Tommie Dora Barker, who has held the office of librarian for the past 15 years and who will become September 16 regional field secretary for the south for the American Library Association.

Miss Hopkins is a graduate of the Atlanta Carnegie library school, having been a member of the 1906 class. She also took a second-year course in administration at the library school of the New York public library. She has had wide experience in the library field, having served in the following offices: Assistant librarian of the Montgomery Library Association, in Alabama; librarian of the Carnegie library in Paducah, Ky., for 10 years; branch librarian of the Tompkins Square library of the New York Public library; chief of book selection, A.

L. A. war service, New York city; assistant of the bibliography department, Library of American Institute of Accountants, New York city. For the past 10 years Miss Hopkins has been assistant librarian at the Atlanta branch of Carnegie library. She is greatly beloved by Atlanta's reading public and is recognized as being one of the south's leading reviewers and critics. Miss Hopkins is the organizer of the public library in Wilmington, N. C., and has been affiliated with the organizing of a number of libraries throughout the south. She was recently honored by the University of Georgia, having the degree of doctor of letters conferred upon her. During the year 1908 Miss Hopkins was cataloger for the University of Georgia library.

The countless friends of Miss Hopkins, who have watched her career with interest, are congratulating her upon her promotion to the position of Atlanta's chief librarian and wish for her a most successful administration.

L. K. Starr Publisher of 'Editor's Forum'

"The Editor's Forum," official publication of the Georgia Press Association, will be published by L. K. Starr and associates, beginning with the August-September issue, assisting Hal M. Stanley, corresponding secretary and "Forum" editor, in bettering the newspaper man's magazine, it was announced Monday by Louis L. Morris, president of the association.

"This step is taken in keeping with the desires of Mr. Stanley, the board of managers and others, to enlarge the magazine so that it will embrace a much wider field than heretofore, and offer greater opportunity for the publication of news and articles of interest to the newspaper fraternity and for the exchange of ideas among members of the profession," Mr. Morris said.

Mr. Morris announced that the association expects to enlarge the size of the publication considerably, and

Blue Laws Invoked In Mississippi Town

LAUREL, Miss., Sept. 1.—(AP) Proprietors of several drug stores, meat markets and soft drink stand operators and out-of-the-city newspaper vendors will appear in police court tomorrow to answer charges of violating the state's blue laws. The arrests were made in compliance with Mayor M. W. McLaurin's recent blue law edict. All alleged violators of the Sunday laws are under bond and will fight the cases against them.

Operators of the motion picture theaters who opened with free movies last Sunday when nearly 4,000 persons saw the pictures, opened again yesterday. It was estimated by the management of the show houses that more than 5,500 saw the performances, despite the fact that establishments charging for goods were closed.

The decision on the part of the city officials to enforce the blue laws followed announcement of theater managers that their shows would open under auspices of the local post of the American Legion.

ALABAMAN CHOSEN FOR 82D ADDRESS

Congressman Jeffries To Deliver Principal Speech at Reunion.

Congressman Lamar Jeffries, of Alabama, one of the most widely known orators in the south and prominent in national affairs from his interest in World War veterans, will deliver the principal address at the memorial ceremonies which will be a feature of the Eighty-second Division's reunion September 26 to 28, it is announced by Captain W. A. Siron, chairman of the program committee.

Mr. Jeffries, himself a veteran of the A. E. F., will deliver his address on Sunday afternoon, September 28, at the Fox theater, which has been tendered the Eighty-second Division by the manager, Carter Barron. The ceremonies will be open to the public. Estimates of attendance at the reunion of the "All-Americans" has grown within the last few days, as more letters and telegrams have arrived at the headquarters, 72 Broad street, N. W., announcing the coming of old "Camp Gordon men" from all over the country. Many of these were entertained at private homes where they were guests 12 years ago during their training period at Camp Gordon.

Active work in securing subscriptions to the entertainment fund will be renewed today, several groups of officers of the Eighty-second making calls upon business firms. Joseph A. Bankston, of Courts and Company, is chairman of the finance committee. It is stated that several thousand dollars will be needed to entertain the visitors.

Mad Excitement of 'Dixiana'

TRAFFIC VIES WITH ROMANCE TO PROVIDE DANGER

Equalled by Today's 'Thrills'

Amid the mad revelry and carnival pleasures that mark the last intense moments of the Mardi Gras celebration, in the wild excitement of a New Orleans gambling resort or in the hot-blooded struggle for a woman's affections that lead to vindication of a southern gentleman's honor with "pistols at dawn," such as form the background of the lavish film spectacle, "Dixiana," playing this week at the Capitol theater, the menace of accident is ever present.

But the menace of accident is even greater, the suddenness and frequency with which it strikes its unwarned victims is more tragic in the hurry and scurry of everyday traffic in a metropolis like Atlanta, than it is arduous to life and limb as are the casual moments of today's busy whirl of traffic.

The unexpectedness with which the danger of the every growing traffic accident wave hurls itself at every man and woman today, makes it the gravest of menaces. Who of the hundreds maimed and killed daily through traffic accident could have foretold their fate an hour before its happening? Insurance is the most efficient form of protection that society has yet devised to counteract the woes of accidents.

Don't take chances with your own posterity and the security of your loved ones. Whether you are a pedestrian or a motorist, whether you live in the country or in the city you need insurance protection against this great public menace.

See "Dixiana" Free.
The singular opportunity of getting this protection at trivial cost and at the same time receiving a free ticket to the most magnificent screen portrayal of old southern romance is available this week to subscribers of The Constitution.

The complimentary ticket to the Capitol theater being given to each person purchasing The Constitution's $1 insurance policy during the current week will enable you to see the charming singer, Bebe Daniels, Everett Marshall, famous Metropolitan opera baritone; the inimitable comedians, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, and many other stars enacting a thrilling story of Mardi Gras romance.

Read details of the $10,000 travel and pedestrian accident insurance offered to Constitution subscribers for $1, printed elsewhere in today's paper, or ask the information girl in the special booth at the Capitol theater lobby. Then avail yourself of the unique opportunity to get a year's accident protection and a free ticket to any matinee show at the Capitol to see "Dixiana" between now and Friday.

Man Is Crushed To Death by Auto

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 1.—(AP) James Foster, 68, sand company employee, was crushed to death this afternoon when an automobile in which he was riding went over an embankment near Huffakers Ferry, 10 miles east of here.

Foster's wife, two children, and the driver of the car escaped with minor injuries. Witnesses said the driver of the car drove too close to the edge of the highway embankment while passing another car.

Bankers To Ask Hyde To Attend Conference Here

Arthur M. Hyde, United States secretary of agriculture, will be invited to attend the conference for agricultural improvement which will be held in Atlanta under auspices of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers Association, it was announced Monday. Letters of invitation will be filed today with George A. Dunagin, of the bureau of economics, by Horace Russell, president of the chamber of commerce, and James D. Robinson, president of the Atlanta Clearing House Association.

The invitation will be presented to Secretary Hyde by Mr. Dunagin. At the request of H. Lane Young, vice president and executive manager of the Citizens and Southern National bank and chairman of the bankers' association agricultural commission, John M. Graham, president of the Georgia Bankers' Association, has taken the initiative in the effort to bring Mr. Hyde to Atlanta on a visit. Although October 21 has been suggested for the rally, the date is subject to revision to suit the convenience of Mr. Hyde. In the event Mr. Hyde comes to Atlanta, he will be entertained at a banquet to be arranged by B. S. Barker, executive vice president and secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Marsh College Holds Graduations Tonight

Regular graduation exercises of the Marsh Business college will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the institution's quarters in the Grand Theater building.

R. L. Ramsey, superintendent of Fulton High school, will be the principal speaker of the occasion. Diplomats from the college will be awarded to 51 young men and women who have completed their courses.

ANTI-GERMAN FEELING RUNS HIGH IN POLAND

Police Block March of Furious Throng on German Legation.

BERLIN, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A furious anti-German demonstration in the principal square of Warsaw was reported tonight in dispatches of the Telegraphen Union agency.

The demonstration rose from a meeting to protest against recent discussion of possible revision of the German-Polish frontier, which has awakened violent resentment in Poland since the recent speeches of the German cabinet minister, Gottfried Trevannus.

Cries of "Down With Germany" and "Away With the Prussians" rose in a roar. Crowds attempted to march to the German legation but were headed off by a strong force of police.

Similar anti-German demonstrations were reported by the Wolff agency from Kattowitz and Lodz.

Landslide Victims Lying Near Death

INDEPENDENCE, Cal., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Two schoolboys working on a Sequoia national forest trail during their vacations, were lying seriously ill today in a rough cabin on the 13,000-foot level of Mount Whitney. Complications from injuries received a week ago in an avalanche on the highest mountain in the United States had brought them near death.

The two, Donald Downs, of Glendale, Cal., and Ed Jordan, of Dinuba, and two companions, Donald Griffin and Robert Rankin, both of Fresno, were injured in a landslide started by a blast set off by other workers. The latter two youths were brought to Independence Saturday.

An army airplane from March field,

Riverside, dropped medical supplies yesterday upon the camp where Downs and Jordan lay after a physician had sent an urgent call to them. Downs' arm, broken by a falling rock, was amputated and he is suffering from blood poison. Jordan's ribs were broken and he developed pneumonia. The physician and a nurse were called from here and made a 36-hour trip to the 13,000-foot level.

Griffin and Rankin were taken to Fresno by airplane from here.

Belgian Nobleman Slain by Waitress

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Sept. 1.—(AP) Count De Brockhoven, 22-year-old member of the Belgian nobility, was shot by a 20-year-old waitress in a Brussels cafe today and died shortly after being admitted to a hospital.

Before Baby Comes

Turn the months of waiting into ease and comfort

Mrs. W. B. Shupp, Burke, Idaho, writes: "I used Mother's Friend before my last baby came and it helped me wonderfully. It gave me relief during the waiting time and helped me to have a very easy delivery."

Soothing and relaxing
You, too, can apply Mother's Friend—the marvelous external-lubricant and pain-reliever that brings comfort and confidence to the expectant mother. It greatly relieves the strain, the pain and the nervousness that comes from the distention and stretching of the skin and tissues. Applied to the breasts, it is very helpful in preventing caking. It also puts you in good condition for the approaching delivery.

Used externally only
Mother's Friend has stood the test—60 years. It is the prescription of an eminent obstetrician—and is used externally only. Do try it tonight. At all good drug stores.

The Bradford Co., Inc., 605 C. St., Atlanta, Ga.
Please send me a sample and price list of Mother's Friend. I will pay for the balance when I receive the product.

Golfers Qualify for City Amateur Championship at Capital City

58 CANDIDATES ANSWER GRID CALL AT TECH

When the Cubs were struggling through successive games of 20 innings and 13 innings last week, it started talk around the Cracker clubhouse of overtime contests.

Ernie Kreuger, veteran catcher, and Jimmy Johnston, utility infielder, had them all stopped. Ernie and Jimmy were playing with the Brooklyn Trolley Dodgers in 1920 when they set what no doubt is the all-time record for consecutive overtime contests.

Brooklyn played a 26-inning 1-1 tie game in Boston one Saturday, came home and beat the Phillies, 5 to 4, in 13 innings, went back to Boston and lost a 19-inning game.

Kreuger and Johnston say the next day they played a 10-inning game, but the little red book does not bear them out. It is possible the little red book is wrong.

Sixty-eight innings in four days would be the endurance record for all time. In those days the marathon idea had not been thought of and athletes accomplished feats of endurance without thinking anything about it.

CRACKERS IN BAD SPOT.

Things have worked around suddenly in the last gasps of the championship race to put the Crackers in an uncomfortable spot.

The Crackers will have to fight to hold a place in first division against the strongest clubs in the league, while Little Rock, in fifth place, is playing fine baseball just now and will take advantage of any mistakes the Crackers make.

Johnny Dobbs takes his men out on the last road trip to play three games against New Orleans and three with Birmingham. Both these outfits are battling now for position and will not be coasting.

Then the club comes home to play two farewell games with the Barons. It will constitute a miracle if they are not back in fifth place by the time they get through with the Birmingham set.

Four games with Nashville and the nightcap affair in Chattanooga may serve to boost them back into first division if they are out. No manager trying to do well has ever confronted a tougher assignment.

FOUR YEARS IN FIFTH PLACE.

For the past four years the Crackers have finished in fifth place—no better, no worse.

They say around the circuit that the Crackers have acquired sole territorial rights on fifth place and refuse to surrender it. Sports writers in other cities who are heartless anyhow laughingly predicted before the season opened that the Crackers could be counted on to finish fifth. The home guard was hopeful and guessed third or fourth.

If the Crackers do not hustle right down to the wire and keep themselves above fifth place level, the crowd will do a lot of laughing at our expense. It will be very embarrassing.

And, to go farther into the matter, it should be extremely annoying to the Crackers themselves to fail to make first division. It should be enough to keep them on their toes.

THE RASPBERRY DE LUXE.

But after it is all over if the worst comes to the worst and fifth place is all the Crackers can get, they can get some consolation by purchasing a Brooklyn newspaper at a newsstand and reading what is being said about the Robins.

HIGHER EDUCATION NEEDED.

A college football player, who gave out the story in return for a solemn promise not to reveal his name, went to work in a general store in his home town.

His third customer of the day was a young matron who asked for some baby ribbon.

"All right," the young clerk began brightly, "and how big is the baby?"

ARNOLD WINNER OF RACE CROWN

MARVIN BEATEN BY PAUL JONES

ALTOONA, Pa., Sept. 1.—(UN)—Billy Arnold, driving a Hertz-Miller Special, today won the 1930 A. A. championship when he was declared the winner of the 14th running of the Altoona speedway races as rain forced officials to end the scheduled 200-mile event near the 115-mile mark.

"Deacon" Litz, in his Duesenberg, was second, and "Shorty" Cantlon, driving a Miller-Schiffel, third.

Arnold has won three major classics this year—the Decoration Day race at Indianapolis; the Flag Day event here and today's race.

The winner's official average speed was 113 miles a hour, track officials said.

The race today was delayed 50 minutes by rain and track repairs. Although the track was slippery, no injuries were suffered by any of the 12 drivers.

Arnold led the field for the greater part of the race. He was away last and set a pace of more than 124 miles an hour for the first two laps. He was still ahead at the end of 50 miles, leading Litz by several lengths. Lou Mayer, with his Hertz-Duesenberg, was third at this point, with Russ Snowberger, driving a Russell eight, fourth.

Litz took the lead on the 75th mile when Arnold was forced to the pit by tire trouble. Litz's lead was short-lived, however, as Arnold regained the lead before the 100th mile and lost a minute. The winner then stayed in front until Starter Ross flashed the checkered flag on the 93d lap.

FRANK WINE WINS.

GOLFERS WILL QUALIFY TODAY FOR CITY MEET

Strong Field Goes After Hughes' Title at Capital City.

By Roy White.

Atlanta golfers will qualify today on the Capital City Country Club course for play in the annual city amateur championship tournament. Players will be grouped into divisions of 8 each and division matches will be played Wednesday. Winners and losers in each division will be formed into flights of 16 each and first round matches will be played Thursday.

Julius Hughes, present city champion, will defend his title against one of the strongest fields of amateur golfers ever to enter a city tournament. Every club in the city, together with the municipal links, will have good representatives.

Young golfers of the city offer a serious threat to the crown. A foursome practiced on the course Friday and turned in scores of 70, 75, 75 and 76. Other equally good scores were turned in late Monday afternoon in the final skirmishes.

An unusually large assortment of silverware awaits winners and runners-up in the various flights. There will be a trophy for the medalists and a trophy for the club winning the low team score, as well as medals for each member of the team. The large Gulf Refining trophy will become the permanent property of the club winning it three times. East Lake and Capital City both have a log on the trophy. The prizes are on display at the Capital City Club.

TOURNAMENT COMMITTEE.

George Gantt, chairman; Ed Upton, Jr., John Holmes, members of the tournament committee; Howard Beckert and Willie Livingstone, club professionals, will be in charge of the tournament.

Officials of the Capital City Club have left no stone unturned in preparing for the best tournament in the history of the city. The course is in much better condition than at any time this summer, and some good scores are expected to be made in qualifying rounds.

Among the strongest entries are Charles Shropshire, Roby Robinson, Fred Minnich, Cy Strickler, Jr., Dave Black, present Georgia state champion; Hugh and Charlie Nunnally, from the Capital City Club; Hugh Carver, and Bobby Chambers, from Druid Hills; Johnny Green, J. J. Jones, Jr., and H. R. Wagar, from Ansley Park; Berrien Moore, Jr., Scott Hudson, Jr., L. R. Hunter and Charlie Yates, Jr., from East Lake; Bruce Morgan and Pete Barnes, from West End; Norman Elias, Robert Schwab, Will King and Monte Foster, from Ingleside; and Harry Gerlach and Tommy Barnes, from the municipal links.

The first pair of qualifiers will start at 8 o'clock and others will follow at five-minute intervals. Several open dates are left in the morning and around 2 o'clock in the afternoon for late entries.

Every amateur golfer in the city is eligible to enter and late entries are requested to report to the committee during the morning hours in order to start in the open play.

Starting times follow:

Shultz Again Wins Pike's Peak Climb

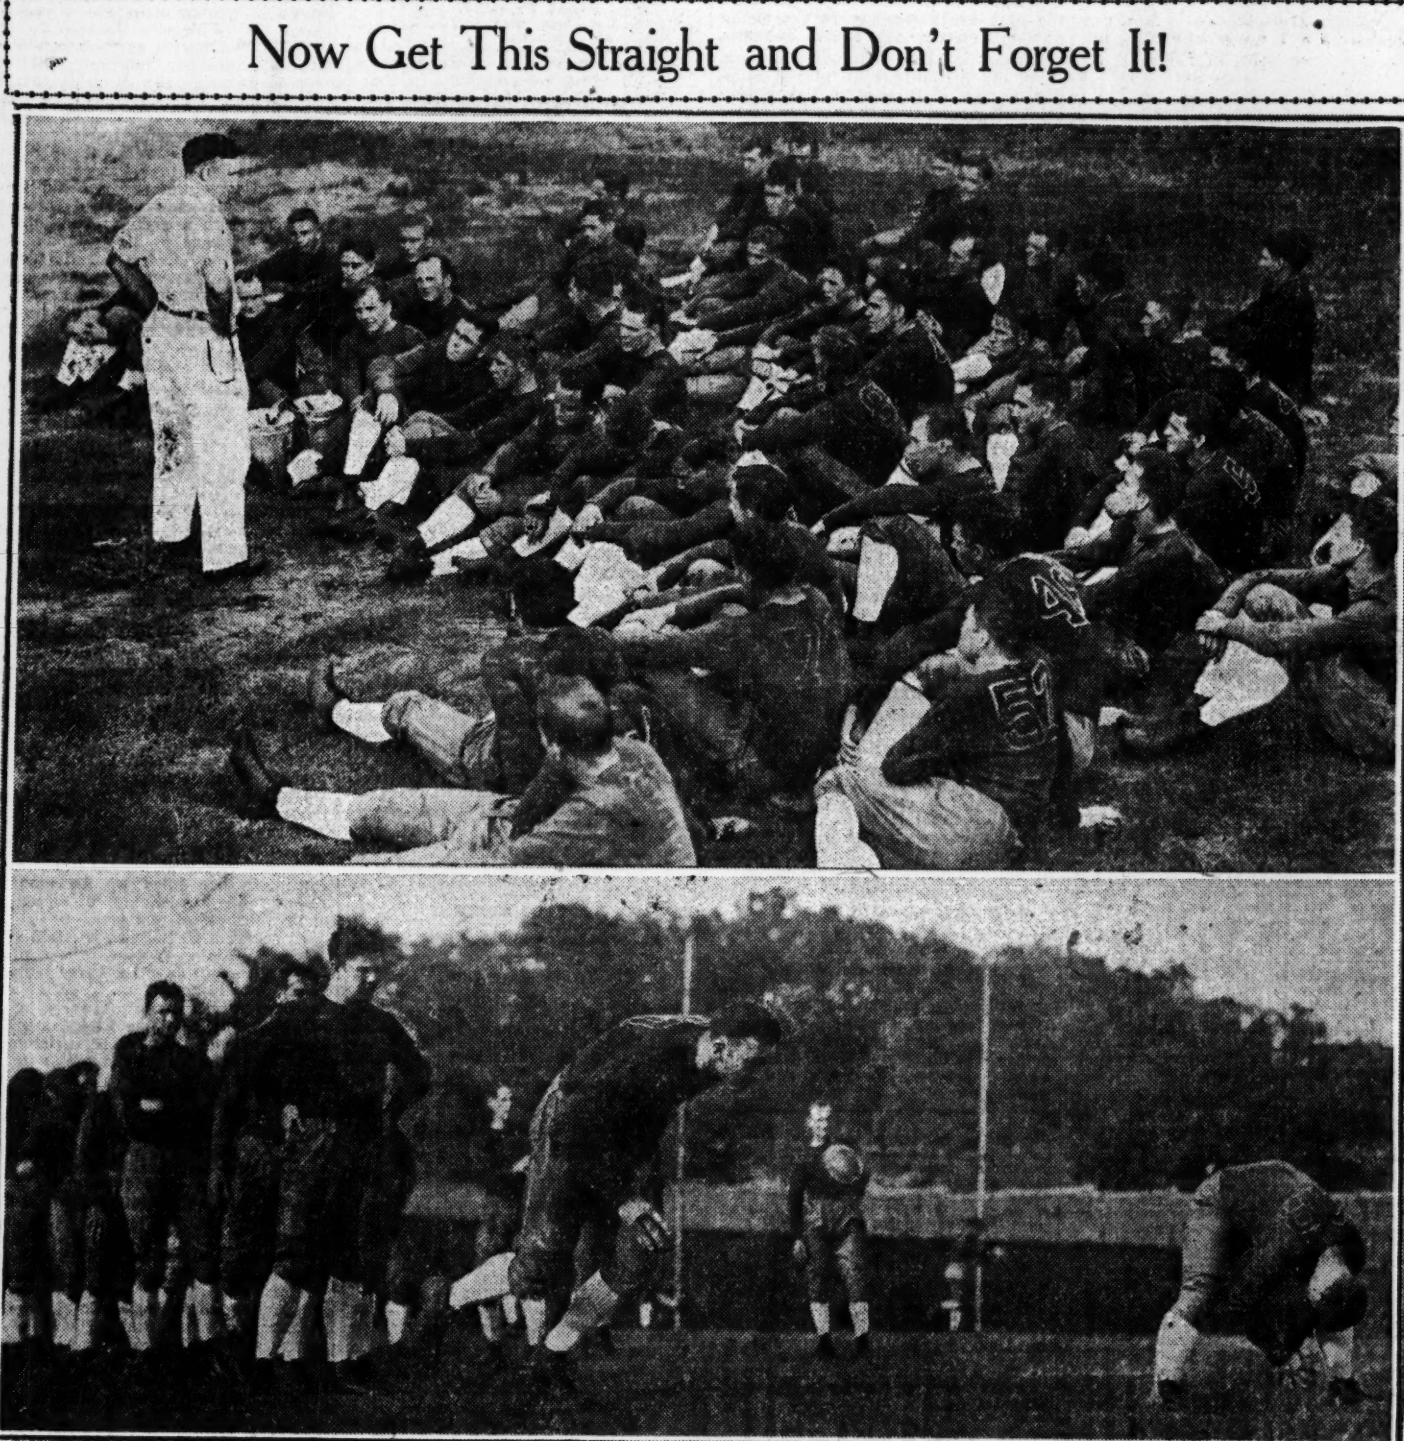

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Glenn Shultz, perennial winner of the Pike's Peak auto climb, piloted his racer over the course to another victory—his sixth—today. His car roared past the finish line at the summit 18 minutes and 8.5 seconds after leaving the starting point, 12 miles and 200 yards away.

Louis Unger finished second in 18:37.4 and Robert Mason was third. His time was 18:59.4.

In light truck car class W. F. Shepherd was first in 24:18. Six others finished in this class.

Edward Phillips was first, time 29:18.4, in the heavy truck car class. His only opponent scratched.

Schultz has finished in less money nine times and also holds the course record of 17:41.4 made in 1928.

Now Get This Straight and Don't Forget It!

'Ellick' and 'Uncle Dan' Have Great Records

No Other Coaches Approach Marks of Tech and Vanderbilt Old-Timers.

By Ralph McGill.

It isn't necessary to become inquisitive concerning the ability of a coach who has spent ten or more years at one institution in charge of the football team.

Any man who can weather the storm and strife of competition in the fat years and the wrath and non-intelligence of alumni during the lean seasons across a span of ten or more years has got to be good.

No coaches anywhere in the Southern conference come near the records set by its two veterans, Your Uncle Dan McGugin, who is starting his 27th season at Vanderbilt, and W. A. (Ellick) Alexander, who is off on his 11th campaign at the Flats.

It is not curious that they are a lot alike in their methods of coaching, though neither uses the same system; that they have uniquely attractive personalities and that they win the respect and admiration of their boys as few men do. It requires characteristics like that to be a successful football coach across any great period of time.

DAN IS DEAN.

McGugin is the dean of southern coaches and, for that matter, ranks with Stagg, of Chicago, and Yoe, of Michigan, as the three men in the coaching game who have stayed more than a quarter of a century at one institution.

McGugin began the business of playing intersectional games. He began doing it back in the dark ages of southern football, turning out teams that beat the Carle Indians in their heyday, tied Yale and the Navy and held Harvard and Michigan to close scores. He has continued with latter day victories over Minnesota, Colgate and a tie with Michigan.

His teams have never been lower than sixth place in 26 years of organized play.

ALEX'S CAREER.

Coach Alexander's career has been equally as consistent and contains something that McGugin's record does not—a national football championship. The 1928 season saw Georgia Tech's team defeat Notre Dame to earn national recognition and then go on to defeat California in the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena on New Year's Day, a game which was generally conceded as carrying the national title with the victory.

Tech showed a team that was from two to three touchdowns better than California so far as smartness of team play and ability was concerned, an early touchdown enabling the Jackets to drop back on defense and let the Bears carry the offense in the hot weather that prevailed.

McGugin has won ten southern championships in his 26 years. Alexander's record is just as good over his ten years of coaching.

WADE IS MOVING.

Wallace Wade has been at Alabama for seven years, but he is moving to Georgia Tech this fall to coach the football team.

CRACKERS TAKE DOUBLE HEADER

Mobile Drops in and Loses Two to Atlantans, 7-1 and 10-2.

By Ralph McGill.

Accommodating to a fault, the homeless Mobile Bears dropped two games to the Crackers Labor Day by scores of 7 to 1 and 10 to 2, and bade farewell to Spiller field for the 1930 campaign.

Only 501 people saw Climax Blithen win the morning contest. It started at 10 o'clock and the populace did not get up that early due to pre-arranged golf exercises of the night before. Luke Appling and Bobby Lamotte batted in five of the Crackers runs in the forenoon. Meanwhile Old Climax was striking them out or forcing them to hit easy grounders.

A crowd of 2,034 visited the park in the afternoon and saw Ray Francis win his 12th game for the Crackers and his 13th of the season. Ray had an easy time as all the boys were hitting hard. Roy Carlyle banged out four hits to lead the procession. The Bears seemed to try hard enough. And they actually staged a big argument in the ninth inning over a decision when they were 3 runs behind. That is the height of sincerity.

The Crackers left last night to play three games with New Orleans and three with Birmingham. They return home September 8 for a week's stand and close the season September 14 in Chattanooga.

Red Barron was cut off the list yesterday afternoon at his own request.

Add Warren Wins Over Tiny Herman

MACON, Ga., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Add Warren, Durham heavyweight, won over Tiny Herman, Portland, Ore., here tonight by a technical knockout in the tenth round of their scheduled 10-round bout.

Crackers Buy Fielder To Help in Last Drive

Starting a last long drive designed to keep in the first division—for pride's sake—and out of fifth place—for variety's sake—the Crackers bolstered an outfield weakened by injuries by the purchase of Doug Taitt, Dallas slugger.

Taitt, property of the Chicago White Sox and a 350-hitter, will join the Crackers today in New Orleans. Dispatches from Dallas said that Taitt was pleased by the shift and left early last night to be on hand for today's game with the Fels.

The illnesses of Carlyle and Langford and Red Barron's departure for his old teaching-coaching post at Monroe A. M. left the Crackers in a bad way afield. Taitt's acquisition is expected to reinforce the weak spot.

COACH FINCHER HANDLES MEN ON FIRST DAY

Frank Speer Looks Good as Boys Begin Season's Practice.

By Ralph McGill.

Fifty-eight aspirants to positions on the Georgia Tech football team for 1930 stepped out on the Rose Bowl field Monday afternoon in the first workout of the year.

They looked, en masse, like a convention of the finest physical specimens selected from contests in 88 cities.

Bill Fincher, line coach, greeted the candidates. Mike Miles, backfield coach; Captain H. W. Robinson, end coach; Mack Tharpe, assistant coach; Kenneth Thrash, assistant coach, and Mike Chambers, trainer, were on hand also.

Absent were Alternate Captain Tom Jones and Ed Herron, ends; Sam Colvin and Bud Boner, backbacks; Jim Brooke, guard; Vance Marree, tackle; Sid Williams, halfback. They, with possibly one exception, will check in today.

FINCHER TALKS.

Bill Fincher, inexorable as Fate, sat the boys down in a circle. "You know why you are here," said Bill. "Don't overdo things the first day. Don't try to run too hard. And start training. If you don't know what that means ask someone who does. I know. Now, the linemen come over here and the backs go over there with Mike Miles."

Thus did the football season begin at the Flats. Coach W. A. Alexander, head coach, was absent on business in his capacity as president of the National Coaches' Association. The work did not lag.

Thirty-five of the squad reported to Fincher and work for the line.

TWENTY-THREE BACKS.

Twenty-three went up with Miles and Robinson to start with the backs and ends.

The backs worked slowly at going down under passes, learning the feel of the ball, getting their eyes used to looking up seeing that yellow flag floating in the line of vision and going to meet it.

"Line up, four abreast, and take distance," said Bill Fincher, peering at the 35 line candidates.

"GOSH," SAYS SPEER.

"Gosh," sighed Frank Speer, "I know what that means."

Bill Fincher was starting out with the fundamentals of line play. He was starting the boys on something that will, in a month, become second nature, the placing of their feet, the timing of the four or five short steps with feet wide apart, the balancing of the body so that the work man is not moving forward and upward.

They went over it time after time until 30 minutes had sped by. Meanwhile the backs were perspiring freely and plentifully as they went down under passes and were in a receptive mood for the signal calling off practice at 5 o'clock.

"SMALL GALLERY.

There was a very small gallery present. It consisted of what looked like the entire membership of the "Thirteen Club," by which name the local newspaper photographers are known. There were three newspapermen present and that seemed to be all. Coach Alexander had issued orders that all but those enumerated above be barred until October 1, when alumni were to be admitted by coach.

Frank Speer attracted no end of attention. The big tackle, one of the south's best in 1928, was the center of the crowd. He was just enough fat to work off and not "eat him weak."

SHOWS MUCH SPEED.

Speer, perhaps because he was in varsity uniform, appeared surer of himself than he did last fall. Some of the awkwardness was gone from his bearing. His legs moved naturally in the backfield manner. His knees, when he carried the ball on short dashes for the photographers to get action shots, were high. It all appeared natural to him. Proving once more what a year's work will do.

Dick Dobbins, freshman star of last season, was another of the many who looked to be ready.

"I heard a good story about Dobbins," said George Griffin, of the dean's office. "A boy who was in school with him told me that the teacher asked Dick what the first railroad was that ran in the south and Dick answered 'The Mason and Dixon Line.'"

GOOD AS BACK.

Dobbins started at center and guard with the freshmen but gave way at center to Nebbett. This past spring Dobbins was tried at halfback and looked good there.

Captain Earl Dunlap, the only backfield veteran returning from the 1929 team, was working along with the rest. Dunlap should make one of the best backs in Tech has had in years. He sets a fine example and is someone the boys will respect and follow.

Doug Graydon, Ike Farmer, Fred Dick and several others were also on hand.

PLANS ARE LAID FOR Y-CHURCH LEAGUE SERIES

Winners in Five Leagues Meet for Trammell Scott Trophy.

Managers of teams playing under the auspices of the Y-Church Athletic Association will meet tonight to complete arrangements for playing the big series to decide the best of the five pennant winners. This series, which is an annual event, brings the leaders of the five leagues together and is always a magnet for an outpouring of fans of the city.

J. O. Y. Class, of Central Baptist, won the title in 1929, but were un-

Should Northwest Atlanta defeat Peachtree Christian they will be the 1929 winner to compete with the Atlanta Park and the Piedmont league and Bethany Methodist of the Sewanee league, are the only clubs that are sure of entering the series. They have already won this right.

In the Dixie league the race lies between Peachtree Christian and Northwest Atlanta while Alpha Class,

The Fulton league, Lowrytown Baptist will meet either Mt. Zion Methodist or Mountain View Baptist for the Georgia league flag and the right to enter the big series.

September Ushers in Greatest Sport Period in History

POLO AND YACHT MEETS ADDED TO BIG CARD

Program for Month Given International Flavor by Two Events.

By Frank Getty.

United News Sports Editor.
NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The month of September ushers in the greatest period of sport, national and international, that the Atlantic seaboard and the seas just beyond ever have known.

Sports lovers can have their fill of thrills in tennis, golf, baseball, boxing, and the less familiar attractions of international polo and yachting. The national singles championship, the P. G. A. championship, some critical series in the National League pennant races, fights featuring Al Singer against Jimmy McLarnin and Vittorio Campolo against Jack Sharkey, and the polo at Meadowbrook—between England and America—all will be crowded into a few weeks and within a few miles of New York.

Off Newport, the challenging Shamrock V, and the defender, Enterprise, will engage in a series of three out of five races for America's cup, the most historic of yachting trophies. On the day of the first race (September 13), fall the finals of the tennis at Forest Hills, the finals of the professional golf championships and the $125,000 Belmont Futurity and the final polo match at Meadowbrook.

FLAG RACE.

The Chicago Cubs, National League champions and present leaders, will be swinging through the east, encountering the Giants and Robins in series which should finally settle the 1930 flag race. The American League race, which seemed a walk-over for the Athletics, even threatens to take on new life in September due to the advance of the Washington Senators.

First on the month's crowded sports calendar come tennis and polo. The men's singles championship, with "Big Bill" Tilden in the defending role, is a dozen coming youngsters sniping at the fading monarch for seven days, starts September 6. The title is safe for America, unlike the women's crown, unless Jean Borotra, of France, now in Canada on business, decides to enter at the last moment. Today, at Forest Hills, the tennis of the east met those of the west in their annual engagement, the first winning.

POLO MATCHES.

Polo, with the American and English teams still undecided, starts next Saturday. The American side will be finally determined after another test match Tuesday, and will almost certainly consist of Eric Bell, No. 1; Earl Hopping, No. 2; Tommy Hitchcock, No. 3, and Winston Guest, back.

The United States will be a 2-to-1 favorite to defeat the English at Meadowbrook. The challengers have not shopped up as the strong combination predicted last spring.

GOLF TOURNEY.

Later in the month, at the Merion Cricket Club's course, where he first qualified for a national amateur championship and first won an open crown, Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, will attempt to win the amateur golf title. If he does so, Bobby will have won four national championships this year, the British open and amateur and the American open at Minneapolis.

And just as though all this sporting excitement wasn't enough to crowd into a single month, what with motor racing, auto racing, 6-meter yacht racing (international) and numerous other fixtures, football enters into the picture. The regular 1930 football season opens September 27, with hundreds of colleges starting practice this week and the next.

Double Bills Set In American Loop

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—(P)—The American league today transferred three postponed August 15 games to different parks in a new revision of its dwindling double-header list.

The revised list:
September 6—Cleveland at Chicago.
September 7—Boston at New York.
(September 23 game advanced to be part of double-header.)
September 13—New York at Detroit.
(Postponed game of August 15 transferred as part of double-header.)
September 14—Boston at St. Louis.
(Postponed game of August 15 transferred as part of double-header.)
September 16—Philadelphia at Chicago.
(Postponed game of August 15 transferred as part of double-header.)

SOME BUSY CHAMPIONS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—This month should be dedicated to champions on defense. There will be one of the largest flocks of crown-wearers yet entered on the books busy defending various titles before October arrives. Here is just a partial list—

- 1—Bill Tilden and the national tennis title, opening Saturday.
- 2—The U. S. polo in defense of a cup won back nine years ago.
- 3—Leo Diegel and the P. G. A. championship at Fresh Meadow.
- 4—The defense of the America's cup.
- 5—Jimmy Johnston battling to hold his golf crown at Merion.
- 6—Athletics defending American league title.
- 7—Cubs defending National League pennant.
- 8—Babe Ruth seeking to repulse Hack Wilson in the home run game.

This is only a partial list, but it includes most of the headlines who will march in September's parade.

Which one has the toughest job? I believe this assignment belongs either to Leo Diegel in the P. G. A. or Jimmy Johnston in the amateur golf swirl beginning the week of September 22. Possibly Johnston has the harder role, although the general average of play in the P. G. A. will be higher. But some one will have to remove Bobby Jones on Wednesday of that week in one of the 18-hole matches to have much chance later on. He will be something to surround and stop after he breaks into the 36-hole huddle that lasts Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Diegel will have his share of trouble but Leo can also step along at a bounding pace, and he will be at least even money against any one he meets, whether the same be Horton Smith, Gene Sarazen or some other headliner.

OTHER CHANCES.

BILL TILDEN will be favored again at Forest Hills, L. I., but he may have a harder fight than he drew last year. The entry of Borotra would make a big difference—possibly. But the young fellows are playing better tennis this fall and even Big Bill may have his share of trouble against a Shields, a Wood, an Allison or some other coming star who happens to be about right.

Tilden didn't look so good after his arrival from Europe—but he has been hustling back to the standard that carried him through Europe—up to the final stands against Cochet. That was asking a little too much on clay courts, where Cochet is supreme.

The British have yet to show enough form to indicate any large chance against the team that Hitchcock will lead into the coming war. And polo of the Hitchcock standard is a cross section of war.

This column picked the Athletics and Cubs to win last April, and there is no reason to change now. It was the logical choice when the race opened. They still look to be the two teams who should meet in October.

The scrap between Babe Ruth and Hack Wilson may be one of the best fights of the year. Both will spend most of the time firing at foreign fences through September. Both showed the strain when they drew about level—Wilson anxious to pass the Babe and Ruth anxious to pull away from the stocky rival who has been chasing him since April. You read of a golfer chasing some one for 10 or 12 holes. It is quite different when some one has been on top of your heels for nearly five months. That is a long time to listen to the hoofbeats of a determined rival down the track.

1929 FRESHMEN EASTERN NET TO AID MERCER PLAYERS WIN

By L. S. Cameron.

United News Staff Writer.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 1.—East best west in their annual intersectional tennis competition by three matches to two here today.

A crowd of 5,000 watched the scoreboard players outclass a combination gathered from California, Texas and Chicago.

Results were: Berkeley Bell, Austin, Texas, defeated J. Gilbert Hall, St. Louis, N. J., 6-2, 4-6, 6-3; Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., defeated John Hope Doe, Santa Monica, Cal., 6-2, 6-4.

Frank N. Shields, New York, defeated George M. Lott, Jr., Chicago, 6-3, 6-2.

John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., and Mangin defeated Lott and Doe, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6.

Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena, Cal., and Bell defeated Shields and Hall, 6-4, 6-4.

The issue was decided when Van Ryn and Mangin speared their play in the closing sets to win over Lott and Doe, who on Saturday had annexed the U. S. men's doubles title at Chestnut Hill, Mass.

Van Ryn was partnered with William Allison in losing to Lott and Doe on Saturday.

Bell played at a swift pace to win his match with Hall. He broke Hall's service twice in the first set. Hall made two breaks in the second set. The play followed the service in the third set except in the fourth game which Bell won.

In an exhibition singles match, Jean Borotra, of France, defeated Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, U. S. Intercollegiate champion, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

LAWSON KAYOES FOE.
LAKELAND, Fla., Sept. 1.—(P)—Bob Lawson, 173-pound negro, of Troy, Ala., knocked out Willie Bush, 172-pound Lakeland negro in the third round of a scheduled 10-round feature bout on the Labor Day card here tonight.

BULLDOGS OPEN GRIDIRON WORK IN SHORT DRILL

Squad of Thirty Races Through Light Workout at Athens.

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 1.—The Georgia Bulldogs began their preparations for the 1930 football season on Sanford field this afternoon as Harry Mehre and his corps of assistants put a squad of 30 men through a light workout for the initial session of the pre-season training.

The first 45 minutes of training over 16 of the squad had failed to report, 6 lettermen and 10 sophomores being the missing ones. Ten lettermen were on hand for the remainder of the practice was limited to an hour and consisted of setting-up exercises and a few turns around the field.

TEEN REPORT.

Captain-elect Herb Moffett, Catfish Smith, Austin Downes, Bobby Rose, Weddington Kelly, Red Leathers, Jack (The Ripper) Roberts, Marion Dickens, Tiger Bennett and Tommy Moran were the lettermen who reported today.

Spero Tassapoulas, Georgia's lone senior center; Red Leathers, half of the red-headed guard combination; Jimmy Patterson, John Davidson, Armin Vaughn and Spurgeon Chandler, Georgia's punting hoofs, are still in the ranks of the missing, but are expected to report hourly.

The practice sessions this week will consist of an hour or two of running, calisthenics and other conditioning to get the boys in condition to undergo the hard training and equally hard schedule facing them during the next three months.

The workouts will be on Sanford field late in the afternoon and the squad will be attired in running pants and light-colored shirts.

Mehe and his assistants will get the candidates a lecture in the morning and afternoon until the opening of school.

Twenty sophomores and reserves were among the lot that worked out on Sanford field this afternoon. They were: Jimmy Stoinoff, Thony Thornton, Earl Lynn and Ed Hamilton, reserves, and Tex Collins, Sam Brown, Jake Thorne, Arthur Reynolds, Dick Maxwell, Skinny Davis, Vason McWhorter, Billy Hazlehurst, Buster Mott, Ed Herring, Harry Wynn, Freddie Miller, Fats Winn, Ham Hamrick and Tack Swygert.

Frank Thomas, Bulldog backfield coach, who became head coach of Alabama next year; Jimmy Broadnax, freshman coach, and Theodore Frisbie, line coach, were the three mentors present besides Mehre.

Chick Shiver, end coach, is playing baseball in the Texas league, and Mehre is uncertain as to how long before he will take over his coaching duties.

Thirty-Eight Tigers Report to Wynne.

AUBURN, Ala., Sept. 1.—Thirty-eight candidates reported to Coach Chet Wynne for the opening practice on Sanford field this afternoon.

The candidates were greeted on Drake field by two other Al-American football players from Notre Dame—Robert E. Harkins and Jack Cannon, who will coach the freshmen.

Cannon will aid Wynne with the varsity candidates this morning and Harkins will not assemble for practice until September 8.

Hard work was dishes out on the Auburn candidates on the opening day. Labor Day certainly meant labor for Captain Dunham K. Harkins and company.

The candidates were given instructions from Kiley, tackles and guards from McFadden and Cannon, and the backs from Wynne.

After over an hour of more or less individual attention, Coach Wynne sent a team through a dummy scrimmage with the seniors at center.

Wood and Jones, guards; Taylor and Wagon, tackles; Grant and Senn, ends; Parker, quarterback; Hatfield, fullback, halves, and Brown, fullback.

Punting came in for its share of attention. Wynne had Tammill, Chappell, and Harkins at punting. A few spirals. Parker was on the receiving end of most of the punts.

The players reporting the first day were Captain Harkins, Julian Bassett, George Egge, Chattle Davidson, A. W. Herren, Alternate Captain Equiet Taylor, Frank Pate, Earnest Stewart, James Wood, Hugh Cameron, M. L. Patterson, David Mosley, Winston Sheehan, Louis McRee, Billie Hall, Ernest Mophel, Leo Young, J. D. Simpkins, Jimmie Hitchcock, Porter Grant, Dick White, William Wood, Leonard Hargan, Willie Tammill, Carl Schlick, Carl Senn, Kenneth Phipps, Ike Parker, Ralph Jordan, Lee Johnson, D. T. Jones, Lindley Hatfield, Howard Harkins, and Chappelle, Clyde Childers, James Bush and Tom Brown.

ing on to another institution next fall. His record was a brilliant one at the start but the last three years have been struggles to come back to a position of dominance again. He hopes to reach it this fall, his last at Alabama.

Only Alexander, McGugin, Wade and Bernie Bierman, of Tulane, have won southern championships. Bob Neyland's teams at Knoxville, despite their brilliance, have never had enough stamina to unify.

There are other veteran coaches in the south with many years of football experience but they have seen service at several institutions.

NEW COACHES.
The Southern conference has six new head coaches this fall. One is a Notre Dame-trained product, Chet Wynne, at Auburn, is from South Bend, Ed Walker, at Old Miss, is a Sanford product. Dudley Noble, at Mississippi A. and M., is a product of that school. Red Cagle, who comes in from the Army as assistant, will really be in charge of the football squad. Orville Neal, the new-comer at V. P. I., is a Western Maryland man. He is in charge at North Carolina State, is a product of that school. Harry Harmon, at Seawance, is a Pittsburgh man.

He has a chance to stick around as long as Coach "Elick" and Your Uncle Dan. It is a long, hard journey, with alumni who they secured coaches for only getting no more sensible. But it can be done.

If one has what "Elick" and Your Uncle Dan has, he can know their paths haven't been pleasant all the way.

Bob Shatters Highlands' Par

HIGHLANDS, N. C., Sept. 1.—Bobby Jones, amateur champion, is using his week here in a serious drive to polish his game for the national amateur tournament, Merion, starting September 22.

Bob arrived Saturday for a week of "rest," but got his clubs out almost at once and stepped over the course in two par-shattering rounds, crashing out a 69 in the first and then shaving three strokes from the total in a second circuit.

COLORED FIGHTS CARD FOR TONIGHT

Roby Offers 40 Rounds of Action Plus Battle Royal.

The box-fight business, in which there has been little activity hereabouts of late, comes to the forefront again tonight in the city auditorium when S. Cleo Roby, promoter of two-gold cards de luxe, presents his public with 40 rounds of milling and a battle royal in which five Senegambian slavers will meet.

Starting time is 8:30 and prices have been cut to meet the demands of one and all, Roby says.

"The prices are the lowest I have ever charged," he said, "and I think the show will be the best."

He pointed out that he has dug up some real opposition for Dynamite Roy Dunn and that it will require all the skill and cunning of the speedster to overcome Cotton Batton, colored boxing prodigy of Fort Benning, who knocks 'em dead with a punch.

He laid heavy odds on just one round recently and is making a noise as if he intends to duplicate the feat against Dunn.

Batton carries a heavyweight advantage into the ring tonight, which, combined with his superior punching, will make him a formidable adversary for Dunn. The latter, fast, astute, dexterous with the mitts and a quick thinker, is relying upon those assets to pull him through. If successful, he will invade California for five fights and return here to meet Gorilla Jones or Jack McVey.

Many of the best local negro scrappers are on the program for tonight, including: Roy Dunn, Marion and Atlanta, 146, vs. Cotton Batton, Fort Benning, 160, 10 rounds; Jimmy Stafford, Atlanta, 124, vs. Kid Moon, Atlanta, 130.

Geoff Flowers, Atlanta, 152, vs. Tiger Thompson, Fort Benning, 154; Willie Thrasher, Troy, Ala., 144, vs. Black Tom, 140; and Howard, Atlanta, 150, vs. Young Billy Hooper, Atlanta, 150, vs. Tiger Jewell, Fort Benning, 150.

Young Langford, Birmingham, 148, vs. Battle royal.

REVELLE CALL TO GRID DRILLS SOUNDS IN DIXIE

Most Camps Get Start With Light Monday Practices.

By The Associated Press.

The reveille call for football practice sounded from training camp bugles throughout the south today with hundreds of athletes answering the summons in more than a score of Dixie schools.

Some of the schools delayed rehearsals until after the Labor Day holiday, but the majority of coaches issued orders for immediate workouts. Light limbering up exercises, short pass drills and the issuing of uniforms and equipment was the order of the day in most camps.

Line Coach Bill Fincher, in charge of the Georgia Tech candidates, with Coach W. A. Alexander in New York on business, incident to his position as president of the National Coaches' Association, looked over the smallest squad Tech has called for early practice in more than a decade.

Out at New Orleans Bernie Bierman inspected his 1929 championship squad for the first time and started his search for ball carriers to replace Billy Banker and Ike Armstrong. Bierman has no line worries as six of his seven regulars were on hand for today's workout.

Gene McEver, the nation's high scorer and an All-Southern halfback last year, set on the sidelines at Tennessee got down to work at Knoxville. The fast stepping ball carrier is suffering from a knee injury received in a baseball game this summer. However, all but four of last year's regulars answered the roll call and McEver's injury seems to be Bob Neyland's chief trouble.

Bill Rafferty at Virginia Military Institute probably won the sorest expression of any Dixie coach. Captain Roy Dunn, fullback, is the only 1929 regular returning at the military school, although several reserve lettermen are on hand.

RESERVE SEARCH.
Harry Mehre, at Georgia, found most of his surprising sophomores of last season back again and ready for their big plunge as juniors. Mehre has a good first string lineup, but needs reserves.

Sophomores swarmed all over the field at Nashville as Colonel Dan Eugin started his twenty-seventh season. A number of lettermen were on hand at the Commodore gathering, but the rail birds pointed to just four sophomores who would probably fill gaps in the line this fall.

While most of the experts were pointing to Nashville as Georgia and other teams as the foremost contenders for the title this year, Wallace Wade went about his work at Alabama determined to cause quite a bit of trouble during his last year at Tuscaloosa. Wade's biggest problem now is in finding capable punters and passers among his backfield collection.

Wide-open spaces in the line faced Coach Russ Cohen, at Louisiana State, and Curley Byrd, at Maryland. Both have veteran linebacks.

Probably the largest turn out of gridders in the south greeted Chet Wynne, new Alabama varsity coach, as he took charge at Auburn. Alumni and students alike evidenced much interest at North Carolina State, Mississippi, Sewanee, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Mississippi A. and M., as new coaches began their task of rebuilding these teams.

SON OF THE GODS

By REX BEACH

"These requests, with one exception, he ignored. He did permit a maiden of elegant personality, whose lucky charms had proven utterly inadequate to protect her, to lay a hand, lighter than a fern, upon his spine and obtain therefrom whatever delicate benefit she could."

"It so chanced that he encountered her at the tennis club on the following afternoon and in recognition of their earlier meeting she engaged herself in pleasant and inspiring talk with him. Many estimable compliments were exchanged and only by a painful effort of will did this presumptuous person finally tear himself away from that enchanting conversation."

"A beneficent fate, aided somewhat by the ingenuity and effrontery of the writer, contrived numerous meetings thereafter, indisputably proving the propinquity of that charm aforementioned. No person of his insignificance has ever been the recipient of her distinguished liking for she is of haughty lineage and studiously ignores the poor and the low-born, thus reflecting honor upon her house. Her name is Wagner and her honorable father acquired such wealth and standing through the manufacture of soaps and cleansing powders that she moves exclusively in the most hard-to-enter circles. It pleases her parent to display toward this undeserving person indications of polished approbation and to assume an artificial interest in his commonplace remarks."

"Upon the conclusion of this intolerably tiresome letter the writer will dress himself becomingly and meet Miss Wagner at the tennis courts. She is an unskilled but an impetuous player of extraordinary grace and one derives keen spiritual satisfaction in observing her for she is not unlike that empress whose feet were so symmetrical and whose beauty was so divine that a flower sprang up wherever she trod."

"Among the sublime virtues is an intelligent submission to the inevitable. How can this contemptible writer quarrel with a fate so kind, however mocking it may appear?"

Sam finished his letter with suitable expressions of his affectionate regard, laid aside his writing materials and then changed into his flannels. He was not nearly so resentful at his condition as he had pretended to be, for following his meeting with the impetuous Miss Wagner life had suddenly taken on a new and profound interest.

Yes, he walked in pleasant places, he was liked, he was respected. Bathurst treated him not as an employee but as a friend and a companion. Their work was anything but trying, for the playwright wrote only in the mornings and the rest of his time he devoted to the amusements in which bachelors of means and of social standing indulge themselves. Many of these he shared with Sam. Bathurst was a good-natured giant and although his profession had brought him large rewards its honors rested lightly upon him, he regarded it as a not very dignified occupation for an able-bodied man and he professed no faith whatever in his so-called talents.

He had taken an instant liking to Sam and when Cyril Bathurst liked a person he made a good deal of him. The truth is Sam interested the dramatist; a Chinese boy of high attainments with all the outward attributes of an Occidental was a phenomenon which afforded opportunity for study and for speculation. It was something new. Bathurst was not slow to realize that the boy had a "white mind" and that in all but one respect he was an American: here then was an anomaly, a "situation" which could not fail to intrigue any thoughtful man. Bathurst wrote melodramas for intelligent audiences but a polite drama in real life was going on right in his own house and he wondered if there might not be a stage play in it.

Race prejudice. Religion. Social barriers. Biological variations. Inherited instincts and revulsions that ran back into the core of two opposing civilizations. Bathurst, himself, gave little importance to such things, for he was a cosmopolitan and he had no racial prejudice to speak of, but he realized that he was an exception and that other people regarded them very differently. With such materials, a skillful and sympathetic writer could build a play of deeper significance than any he had put his hand to and while he regretted the fact that his friendship for Sam precluded the use of them, he nevertheless was fascinated by their dramatic possibilities. He was the more interested when he learned that women liked Sam and that Sam liked them. The Wagner girl, for instance was having quite an affair with his protegee and what the outcome would be Bathurst had not the faintest idea.

As for the young man himself, he neither concealed nor advertised the fact that he was of Oriental parentage, this being in keeping with his dignified reserve. Having been entirely frank with their mutual acquaintances and inasmuch as the question was seldom referred to in his presence, even indirectly, he attributed his improved status to that wider tolerance, that easier grace he had expected to find among cultured Europeans. In this assumption he was not altogether warranted. Bathurst did tell some of his friends, to be sure, but others he did not tell. Any comment the truth may have excited never reached Sam's ears; he never noticed any coolness on the part of his new acquaintances and he found himself happier than he had ever been. He won for himself a considerable popularity which was gratifying, but not really surprising, for his manners were perfect, he was an asset to any dinner table, and people took to him readily.

As for the Wagner girl, Cyril Bathurst had never cared for her; she was too sophisticated and too sure of herself. She was too modern and too highly Americanized to meet the approval of a conservative Britisher like him. The principal guests at the most expensive hotel in Paradise were Albert Wagner and his daughter. Wherever the Wagners went, they were the principal guest, or at least they spent more money than anybody else, for the father traveled in style and he provided for himself in an elaborate way. He was not offensively ostentatious, he was merely sure, he was inordinately proud of his daughter and it gratified him to show her off to the best possible advantage. It pleased him to show off all of his possessions, as a matter of fact, and with some reason, too, for they were of the finest. Alana, for instance, was a beauty. Mr. Wagner's business was enormous, prosperous, and its organization was a model of efficiency; he indulged himself in numerous hobbies, and his California estate was famous for its size and its appointments. The house, itself, he had filled with treasures, in his garage were nothing but high-priced cars and in his stables were only the finest of blooded stock. Al Wagner, in short, was prodigiously successful and he lived up to it.

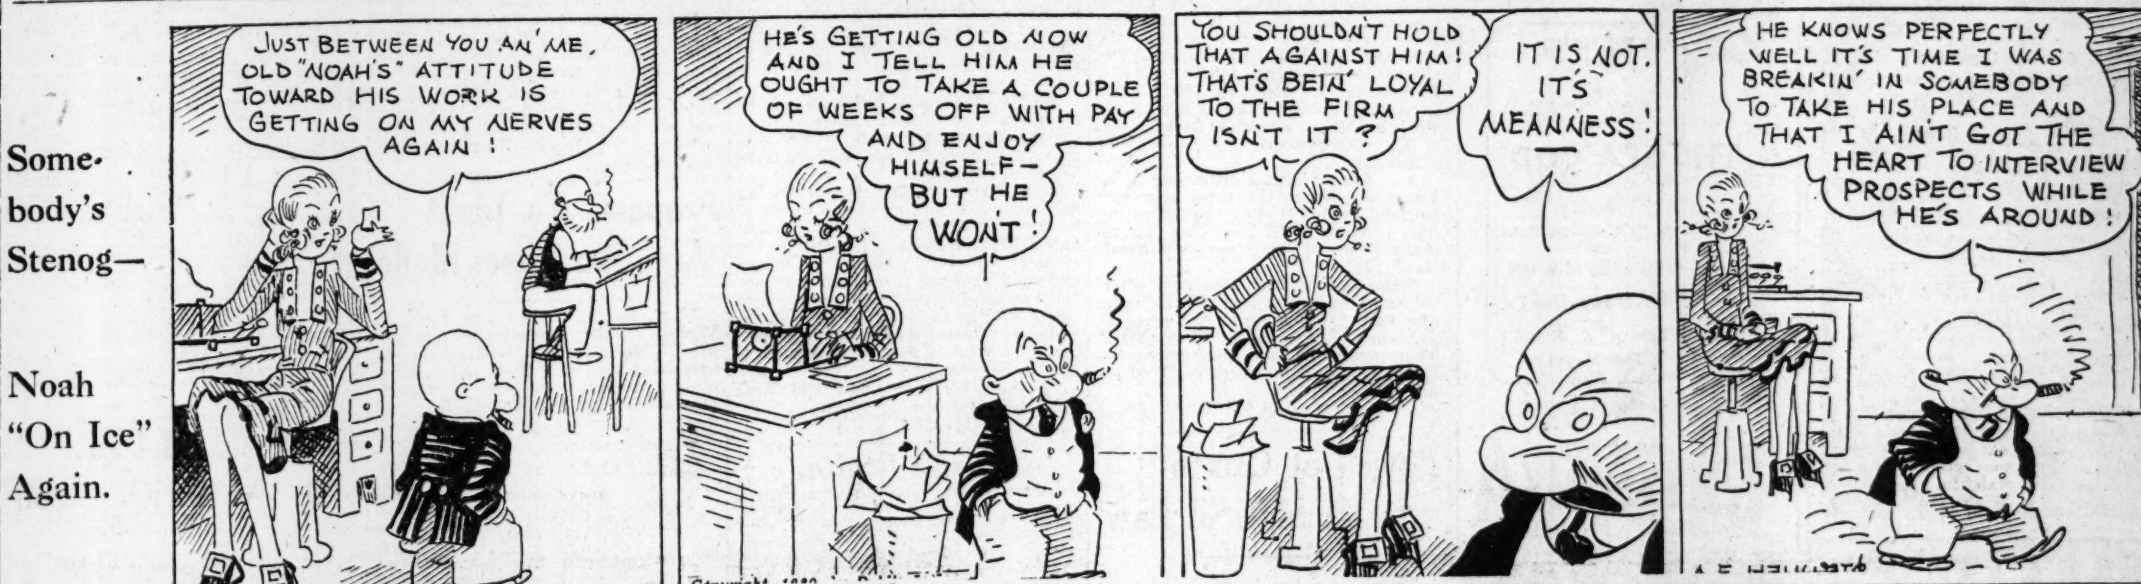

There were times when Alana overpowered him a bit, much as did his magnificent residence, for he understood her as imperfectly as he appreciated his paintings and his statuary, and he managed her no more skillfully than he managed his thoroughbreds when he undertook to ride or to drive them. At the conclusion of the famous Wagner divorce the court had given him custody of the girl, but it had failed utterly to put him in control of her and he was too indulgent, too fond of her to assert himself beyond a certain point. Having proven that a business can be made to grow and to succeed by the employment of high-priced executives he had applied the same common-sense principle, as he called it, to the rearing of his daughter—a not unusual practice among modern parents who can afford the expense. In justice to both it may be said that the procedure had worked out pretty well and that neither had a very serious fault to find with it. On the whole, both father and daughter were perfectly satisfied with themselves and almost as thoroughly satisfied with each other.

Dan Walden, Veteran Of Gray, Buried Today

The funeral of Dan I. Walden, 80, Confederate veteran, who died Monday morning at Grady hospital of injuries received Saturday in an automobile accident near the Soldiers' home, where he had lived for several years, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill. Interment will be in Hollywood cemetery, with H. M. Patterson & Son, funeral directors, in charge.

A member of Company F, Tenth Georgia infantry regiment, during the War Between the States, Mr. Walden was one of the two surviving members of that company who were present at the surrender of General Lee at Appomattox. He was an active member of Camp Tige Anderson, No. 1455, United Confederate Veterans, of Atlanta.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Nannie Cunningham, of Atlanta.

White Proposes To Reduce Council to 13 Members

Plan To Eliminate 26 Officials Is Referred to Charter Revision Committee.

Abolition of 26 of the 30 seats in the council of the borough of Atlanta was proposed Monday afternoon at the semi-monthly meeting of that body by Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, and on motion of the author the measure was referred to the charter revision committee with a request that a recommendation be filed at the September 15 session.

Under the White measure, the proposal would go to the voters of Atlanta in the general election to be held December 3, and in the event of a favorable referendum would be presented at the next session of the Georgia legislature, in the summer of 1931.

If approved there, the change would

Harry Morris To Run Against McCutcheon

Howard C. McCutcheon, democratic nominee from the second ward, Monday had another opponent for the general election on December 3 when Harry Morris, attorney, took the field against him.

H. C. Sims, who now is filling the unexpired term of McCutcheon since the latter's resignation following his indictment, previously had announced he would oppose McCutcheon in the general election.

McCutcheon has not announced whether he will run as the party nominee in the general election, but has the matter under consideration. He declared several days ago that he would make his decision within the next few days.
